The dispatch quoted the Warsaw underground radio as broadcasting today: "Warsaw has ceased to exist. All that remains are ruins." Warsaw, before the war, was one of the gayest capitals of Europe, with a population of 1,300,000.

Russians Gain Steadily On Big Yugoslav Front

MOSCOW (AP)—Russian fighter-bombers swarmed over Yugoslavia in round-the-clock raids on German troops gained steadily today along a curving, mountainous front 70 to 100 miles southeast of Belgrade in a drive that is bottling up an estimated 200,000 Nazi troops in the lower Balkans.

The Germans were fiercely defending their Balkan lifeline southeast of the Yugoslav capital, but Sunday Red Army troops, with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans acting as advance scouts, dented Nazi defenses another 23 miles to within 43 miles of the Belgrade-Nis railway, Moscow announced.

Soviet pilots today reported silencing 50 enemy batteries, destroying five military trains and knocking out scores of trucks and tanks along the vital escape hatch for the imperilled Nazis.

Meanwhile, an unconfirmed dispatch from Turkey said other Soviet and Romanian troops had penetrated 22 miles into southern Hungary in an offensive aimed at Budapest, Magyar capital less than 100 miles distant. Russian gains in that sector were officially acknowledged by Hungary, but their depth was not disclosed.

New Terms Reported At Arena Meeting

New proposals will be submitted by H. B. "Barney" Olson to the City Council for construction of an arena, Ald. W. L. Morgan, chairman of the city's finance committee, said today following a meeting of his group with Mr. Olson.

The terms will be set out in writing as a result of the discussions, the alderman said.

During the meeting several possible sites were discussed, with major emphasis being laid on property in the old Savory estate across Cook from the Athletic Park, and the hollow on Garbally, running from Gorge Road to Douglas.

Ald. Morgan said F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, informed the committee any deal that was made would have to be submitted to the public for a vote. That would allow a public vote to a civic scheme.

"We want something framed in a way to put it to the people at the December elections," Ald. Morgan said.

Lay Off 450 More

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Department of Munitions and Supply today instructed Canadian Pacific Airlines overhaul and repair depot at New Westminster to lay off an additional 450 employees, said G. A. Thompson, plant manager, this afternoon.

Wheelhouse After Victoria Harbor Crash

Capt. Joe Hackett and Chief Mate Ole Nickolassen of Co-operator I, who were in the pilothouse, sidestepped this mess as the counter of the Princess Norah ground through the superstructure of the fishparker as both vessels were outbound late Saturday night. They had a miraculous escape, the skipper sustaining a wrenched leg. (See Story Page 2).

Haida Heroes Holidaying In Canada After Taking Heavy Toll of Nazis

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT (CP)—Proud of the record of their gallant vessel, members of the crew of the Canadian destroyer Haida have returned to Canada on leave after hanging up a list of achievements second to none in the Canadian Navy.

In an action-packed six months, they and their hard-hitting Tribal class vessel have shared with other R.C.N. craft and with ships of the British Navy in these trophies: One U-boat sunk, four enemy destroyers sunk or otherwise destroyed, four destroyers damaged, 10 merchant ships and small escort vessels sunk, two small craft captured with Nazi seamen fleeing from France.

HONORS FOR BRAVERY

These same operations, while the Haida prowled the coast of France under enemy guns on the hunt for trouble, brought 10 decorations and 21 mentions in dispatches for the Haida's crew under Capt. Harry G. DeWolf, D.S.O., D.S.C., of Bedford, N.S.

Capt. DeWolf said their main worry was Nazi E-boats. German surface craft merely scuttled for shelter, after discharging torpedoes, when they met up with Allied vessels, "but those little E-boats really made us nervous," he admitted. "They could lurk on the surface in the darkness and get a torpedo away before you knew they were around. And they were almost impossible to hit."

It has now been established definitely, Capt. DeWolf said, that the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan was sunk by a torpedo launched by one of two Nazi destroyers she and Haida were pursuing at night last April.

Smartest trick the Nazis tried on the Canadian ships came recently along the French coast. Two small vessels laden with Germans fleeing from Brest to Bordeaux appeared in danger of being spotted by Allied patrols. Draping themselves with canvas, they lay to in broad daylight, disguised as rocks.

UNABLE TO ESCAPE

But the Haida caught up with them later, killing two of their men as they fled and capturing both vessels with two officers and 25 men. The ships were armed with anti-tank guns on wheels.

The Haida's U-boat, in the words of her skipper, was "definitely a gift." The underwater craft was spotted by a Liberator bomber, and the Haida and H.M.C.S. Eskimo went to work on it with depth charges.

In all her battling the Haida had only two men killed. But there were plenty of narrow escapes. The enemy never scored a hit on the Haida with any heavy-calibre deapson.

Ontarions Get 26 Ounces Monthly

TORONTO (CP)—The liquor control board of Ontario today announced in newspaper advertisements that the monthly liquor ration has been increased from 26 ounces every two months to 26 ounces a month per permit-holder. The increase is effective today.

The ration of 26 ounces each two months had been effective since last June 1.

The advertisement said the 26-ounce-a-month ration can be maintained throughout the winter months. It predicted the ration will be returned to 26 ounces every two months next year unless the Dominion government rescinds its order restricting liquor sales to 70 per cent of the amount in the 12 months ended Oct. 31, 1942.

Thanks Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King's office made public today a message from the Mayor of Dover, England, which said Dover was "sincerely grateful to Canadian troops for capture of German cross-Channel guns and full of admiration for their gallant and successful operation."

Goering's Editor Faces Treason Trial

LONDON (CP)—Three prominent Germans—one of them editor of Hermann Goering's newspaper, the National Zeitung—will be tried on charges of treason, according to information today from German border sources.

The editor, Count Schwerin, has been accused of complicity in the abortive bomb plot against Hitler. So has Dr. Gessler, a non-Nazi, who once served as minister of war in the Weimar republic and who also is facing a Hitler trial.

The third defendant was listed as Gen. Wagner, who allegedly refused to follow a direct order from Hitler to fortify certain Bavarian and Austrian sectors as a last line of defence on the ground that he did not want to see Germany turned into a battle-ground.

Thames Has Forts

LONDON (CP)—The government revealed today that seven forts bristling with guns, built on concrete stilts above the water in the Thames estuary, have been guarding the strategic seaborne supply route to London since 1942.

Mighty Armada Pounds German Siegfried Line

LONDON (AP)—More than 2,700 Allied warplanes struck in close and deep support today of the new U.S. offensive against the Siegfried Line in the Aachen sector of northwest Germany.

More than 1,000 medium and fighter bombers blazed a path into the Nazi wall immediately before the Americans.

About 900 heavy bombers with 500 escorts tore at targets around Cologne and Kassel while another 300 heavy bombers poured bomb loads into Germany's greatest freight yards at Hamm, 90 miles northeast of Aachen.

Gen. Eisenhower broadcast a warning to Netherlands residents of islands in the Schelde estuary to evacuate before the bombers start work there.

Cologne, fifth city of Greater Germany with 768,000 people, is 30 miles east of Aachen, near where the U.S. 1st Army was attacking the Siegfried Line today. The cathedral city on the Rhine is one of Hitler's greatest arsenals and also is a communication centre for supplying the northern end of the German front.

Kassel, a city of 217,000, is one of the most important German railroad centres in the west. It lies 150 miles beyond Aachen.

The Germans also reported formations over southwest and south Germany, suggesting a two-directional attack from the west and south. One report said some bombers in the north were approaching the enemy naval base of Emden.

Other forces of speedy Mosquito intruders bombed a rural factory 30 miles from Handorf, and carried out more than 40 small attacks on rail and canal targets in Germany and Holland during the night. No aircraft were lost in these operations.

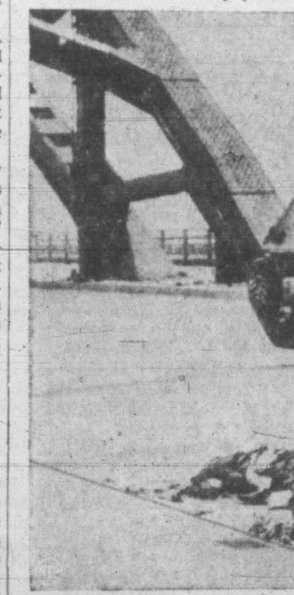

Russian Action Needs Straightening

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Hull today said election of an Allied military mission from Bulgaria by a Russian commander had required a little attention, but that he thought the matter now was straightened out.

The mission went into Bulgaria to handle Anglo-American interests, and some authorities here said the Russian military commander had not been properly advised.

Discussing the incident at his news conference, Mr. Hull said he expected the mission would be permitted to re-enter the defeated Nazi Satellite as a result of arrangements made by Washington and London with Moscow.

Lifeline to Trapped Paratroopers

Symbols of the Nazis' fierce but vain battle to prevent Allies from holding highway bridge across the Waal Rhine River in Holland are the bodies of two German soldiers in foreground of photo above. Past them, an Allied tank speeds along this vital link between Nijmegen and trapped paratroopers who escaped from Arnhem area.

British Broaden Front; Canadians Attack Dunkerque

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. 1st Army, striking one of the greatest offensive blows of the war in an effort to break a new hole in the Siegfried Line, drove a steel wedge two miles deep on a six-mile front north of Aachen today.

Meanwhile the Brussels radio said today the final assault on Dunkerque was launched Sunday night. "Allied batteries are hammering the outer defences of the town," the broadcast said. "Dunkerque is defended by a German garrison of 15,000."

The report was without confirmation from any other source. Dunkerque has been under siege by the 1st Canadian Army for some weeks.

British troops, crushing two of the strongest German counterattacks in the western campaign, broadened their corridor in Holland today and U.S. troops closed into the entrance of the Belfort Gap and advanced farther east of the French city of Nancy.

Nazis Sagging Back From Counterblows

The German army sagged back to the defence in the ruin of the two big counterthrusts after its strongest attempt since the battles at Caen to wrest temporarily the initiative.

The U.S. 1st Army launched its big push toward the Rhine from its positions penetrating the Siegfried Line in the Aachen area.

Ending a stalemate of almost two weeks, in which German counterattacks were beaten off while the mighty punch was prepared, infantrymen and fliers began one of the greatest combined assaults of the European campaign against the entrenched enemy.

The ground attack was preceded by a heavily-concentrated artillery barrage and by thunderous drumbeat of thudding bombs from hundreds of medium and fighter bombers.

Racing out of gray, cloudy skies at about 9 a.m., the planes dropped hundreds of tons of explosives on Nazi pillboxes and gunposts while in scores of nearby French, Belgian and Netherlands villages the people watched the silver-winged armada unloading its bombs on Hitler's West Wall.

Hardly had the ground stopped shaking from the bombardment when veteran infantry, crashed forward through the smoke and rubble.

The attack was launched at a new sector of the Siegfried Line near Aachen where the U.S. already had pierced the enemy defence belt at three places, front dispatches said.

Led by hard-hitting armor, the British 2nd Army won a five-mile front commanding the enemy defence line, three miles from s' Hertogenbosch. The Germans identified this armored unit as Field Marshal Montgomery's old "Desert Rat" 7th Tank Division.

It was through s' Hertogenbosch that the Germans were attempting to keep open a safety valve between the British cut-off and the broad Holland Deep, an estuary of the Maas (Meuse).

Increasing Signs Enemy Pulling Out

A correspondent reported increasing signs of a pull-out through this tightening gap of tens of thousands of German troops still in southwestern Holland.

Still striking for the long Nijmegen bridge across the Waal Rhine, the Germans sent tanks, flame-throwers and infantry beating against the Tommies' line northeast of the city, but they were broken up by rocket-firing Typhoon attacks. British heavy guns and infantry steel.

Some groups of 15 to 20 infiltrated into the British lines, but they were being wiped out.

British troops broadened their corridor to the west by pushing four miles north of the town of Oss to the Naas, forming a solid assault wall against the German line through Nuland and Verlucum, three to five miles east of Hertogenbosch.

First Canadian Army troops attempting to advance on Germans cut off to the west of the British salient were meeting increasingly determined resistance, Canadian Press war correspondent Ross Munro said. He reported it was estimated 25 German battalions were deployed along a 30-mile front barring the Canadian path north of Turnhout in Belgium.

Far to the rear other Canadian troops had captured Calais and taken more than 7,000 prisoners in a siege which ended with the German surrender Saturday night and final mopping-up Sunday.

The 7th Army, to the south, still was digging into stiff German resistance through rugged, wooded, sniper-infested foothills of the Vosges Mountains. But the Germans had given up their sharp counterattacks and were back hammering away with artillery.

'Red Devil' Chief Talks of Battle

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS (AP)—The men of Arnhem who escaped, could not have held out another 24 hours, Maj.-Gen. R. E. Urquhart said today.

Gen. Urquhart came here after about 2,000 of 8,000 men in his British airborne division had escaped annihilation by pulling across the Rhine, where they landed Sept. 17 in a vain effort to establish a bridgehead.

"The U.S. forces put on a really magnificent show, flying in the face of heavy fire, trying to bring us supplies," the six-foot general said. "It wasn't their fault the operation failed."

"The Germans kept tapping away at us. We could cope with their infantry, but not the tanks. They would start down a street and blast every house to the ground."

"We had one outfit trying to hold the bridge and another fighting its way into the town. None of those men escaped."

At one time during the fighting in the suburbs of Arnhem, Gen. Urquhart said, the Germans and British were both using the same hospital for wounded.

The general was cut off from his headquarters for 36 hours and spent the night in a loft, keeping constant watch on a German machine gunner planted 50 yards from the door.

Says Shabby Homes Are No Disgrace

"Careful study of the home front," said a woman club speaker, "shows that the primary concern of most women is winning the war. Naturally their homes grow shabbier as furnishings grow older, and there is less time for repairs, less money for replacements; but this is a badge of honour."

Brigadier Denies Army Covering Up Affair at Duncan

Denying the existence of any evidence to show that 62-year-old Arnold deBock of Duncan was assaulted by any soldiers stationed at Duncan, Brig. A. H. W. Landon in charge of administration, Pacific Command, said Sunday every opportunity had been provided for witnesses to identify any home defence men they believed were involved in the assault.

The brigadier's statement was made in answer to editorial charges of the Cowichan Leader that both civil and military authorities were guilty of dereliction of duty in failing to bring to account the men concerned in the affair in which the elderly civilian, accompanied by his two active service soldier sons was attacked and severely injured, allegedly by a group of home defence men who taunted them with being "suckers."

The brigadier's statement said in part:

"Nor is there any evidence to justify the assumption that anyone we can identify was responsible. The investigation at Duncan included identification parades, giving every opportunity for witnesses to identify any home defence men they believed to be involved. I am informed that far from covering up, the men at Duncan have volunteered to parade over and over again to assist in clearing up the whole matter."

"Apart entirely from identifying any of the home defence men at Duncan, no one has been able to bring out evidence that would justify proceedings against anyone."

China Spokesman Says Supplies Sent From U.S. Too Small

CHUNGKING (AP)—Attributing recent Chinese reverses to lack of essential equipment, a spokesman for the Chinese National Military Council said today the actual tonnage of U.S. supplies delivered to the east China forces since 1941 would not be sufficient to sustain a U.S. or British division in combat for a week.

"The only real help afforded the Chinese armies in east China has been in the form of heroic and remarkably effective air support given by units of the 14th Air Force in that area," the spokesman said.

The spokesman's statement was issued in response to Prime Minister Churchill's speech in the House of Commons last week during which he expressed disappointment over reverses in China. The Chinese high command announced extremely severe fighting today near Kweilin, locating the battle four to 12 miles south-east of the rail town of Hingan, 31 miles from the Kwangsi provincial capital.

The U.S. 14th Air Force has lost its advanced base at Tan-chuk, the fourth abandoned in face of the Japanese offensive through Hunan and Kwangsi to split Chint in two.

Fishpacker Crushed In Harbor Collision

MS. Co-operator I, with deck-housing stove in, tilts to starboard alongside wharf.

Collision between the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Norah and Kyquott Trollers Fishpacker Co-operator I late Saturday night in the harbor caused damage to the latter which may run to between $10,000 and $20,000 and the captain and engineer of the packer were slightly hurt.

There was no fog at the time. Impact of the crash and the rending of timbers telescoped by steel could be distinctly heard by people in Wharf Street buildings. Today the Co-operator I is lying alongside the fish wharf of R. Spouse and Sons Ltd., near the Johnson Street bridge with her superstructure tilted and smashed, her port bulwarks stove in, aftermast askew and with steering gear disabled.

No estimate of the damage to the packer could be immediately ascertained, although the owners place it at "several thousand dollars."

BOTH OUTBOUND
The Princess Norah, outbound from her berth at the C.P.R. docks in the Inner Harbor, was backing out in the customary semi-circle to get lined up for the mouth of the harbor, when her stern came in contact with the port side of the Co-operator, also outbound.

Actual point of contact was said to be halfway between the fishpacker's wharf and Hospital Point.

Time of the collision was reported by those who heard it to be 11:10 Saturday night.

CAPT HACKETT HURT

Capt. Joe Hackett, who was in the pilothouse of the Co-operator I, suffered a wrenched leg, and Tom Collier, engineer, was slightly burned about the hands. Alex. Fletcher, night operator on the Johnson Street Bridge, saw and heard the crash and reported it to the City Police. Constables Bob Morris and Sam McKenzie answered the call, rushed to the wharf by patrol car and assisted in tying up the damaged fishpacker, which had been carried inshore off the coal wharf at the foot of Fort Street.

Capt. Bob Thompson was in command of the P-incess Norah, which apparently escaped with little damage, for she continued her trip after preliminary inspection.

TENDERS CALLED

Harry Barnett, surveyor for the San Francisco Board of Marine Underwriters, said today that tenders had been called for repairs to the Co-operator I, and he expects the repair contract would be awarded by this afternoon. Three local firms submitted bids on the work, the V.M.D., Falconer Marine Industries and Point Hope Shipyards.

Kyquott Trollers Co-operative Association, owners of the damaged seltner-packer, while declining to give any estimate of the damage, said a vessel of the same type could not be built today for less than $30,000. The Co-operator I is 90 feet long, carries a crew of six men. She is capable of carrying 135,000 pounds of fish in one load. Her operators say she has handled 1,400,000 pounds of fish during the present season. It's very fortunate, they say, the vessel wasn't disabled two months ago when the season was at its height. At the present time the packer is under charter to a North Vancouver herring outfit.

Kyquott Trollers operate seven fish camps along the coast between Banfield and Winter Harbor.

Nova Scotia built, the Co-operator I was purchased by her present owners in 1936 and brought out to this coast via Panama Canal.

She was formerly known as the Alpaca.

Men In Italy Ask Ralston Questions About Leave, Demobilization, Beer

By DUG HOW
WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY (CP)—Canada's Defence Minister, Col. J. L. Ralston, will leave Italy fully aware of the problems Dominion soldiers are thinking about and grousing about as they continue to fight what is already the toughest and most sustained action they have fought during more than a year of campaigning in Italy.

He has made a thorough tour of fighting units and base units, has heard questions and given answers to them. He adopted the tactics of telling the men he knew there were problems about this and that and asking if they had any others.

Generally the minister found the troops' minds turning on subjects like these:

1. The whole bulky problem of the Pacific war: Will the troops get home leave? What will the Pacific force consist of? How will the men be picked?

His answer: There will be a government announcement following the disclosure of the Quebec Conference decisions.

WHO GETS HOME FIRST

2. The question of demobilization: Will troops called up for home defence who did not volunteer for overseas service be "demobbed" first? When will the troops get home? How will they return, via England or straight to Canada?

Answer: The machinery for demobilization has been set up. Canada will get the men back as quickly as possible, but "I don't think any of us realize the great demands that are going to fall on shipping after the defeat of Germany." Mr. Ralston could not promise the home troops would not be demobilized before overseas veterans.

He added that once the machinery for demobilization had been set up it was then a question of keeping it fed. If the transport problem made the return of veterans slow it might be just as well to get the home troops out of the way. As one aid to speeding discharge it might be possible to arrange for the final medical check-up of troops to be made overseas.

WHAT ABOUT LEAVE

What about home leave for troops who have been overseas since 1939-40? (This is one you hear a lot out here among these veterans.)

Answer: A strict eye is kept on compassionate leave, the minister said. He had had men ask him why men whose wives and families are behaving should not go home as well as men who get compassionate leave because of domestic trouble. He would take the problem of home leave for the five-year veterans into further consideration, but promised nothing.

The peacetime army? Answer: A pronouncement will be made in due course.

Beer? He did not know the men were not getting their half-bottle per week, as arranged. The fact that the beer was sometimes British was due to pooling. He would investigate.

Why isn't the Canadian Corps equipped entirely with Canadian vehicles? Why are the Canadians sometimes using second-hand British trucks while British units are using new Canadian trucks?

VEHICLES POOLED

Answer: Like beer, vehicles are pooled. There was a policy of the direct supply of Canadian vehicles to the Canadian Corps, but it was always subject to "operational requirements."

Cigarettes: The answer was that delivery in Italy will be speeded up by the use of vehicles instead of trains.

Mail? The minister praised R.C.A.F. pilots who had been flying the mails. The system was not perfect and he would try to get more planes.

Generally speaking, the mail situation in Italy had been good until it slipped slightly in the last few months. Air mail letters average about two weeks from Canada to the front. Parcels are slow in reaching here, but it has been pointed out that thousands go astray because of bad packing and poor or inaccurate addressing.)

The minister found the men thinking seriously and solemnly about problems that grow more serious and sombre with every month away from home. In one instance a few boys were mingled with cheers given him by one battalion, but generally the men listened attentively and appreciatively.

Canadian Facing Stubborn Resistance In Holland Drive

By ROSS MUNRO
WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN BELGIUM (CP)—The Germans are making increasingly strong efforts to block the Canadian army's drive into Holland from the Antwerp-Turnhout area, and it is estimated today there are 25 enemy battalions facing the Canadians along that 30-mile sector of the front.

North of Turnhout the Canadians have reached the Netherlands frontier at two points, but the Germans are resisting every advance both from there and from the bridgehead over the Antwerp-Turnhout canal at St. Leonard.

The Germans decided to attempt to delay both the British 2nd Army and Canadian Army in Holland while defences are rushed up along the Rhine. The counterattacks against the 2nd Army's powerful wedge into Holland and growing resistance along the Canadian Army front are part of this policy.

Cloudy weather threatened to restrict the tremendous Allied air arm's support for ground operations, and greatly aid the German plan, but it turned clear this morning and Allied bombers and fighters were out in strength over the battle areas.

In indifferent weather Sunday R.A.F. planes supporting the Canadian army attacked positions on islands north of the Schelde and beat up barges along canals and waterways in the area. About 50 fighter-bombers attacked one collection of barges and damaged about 25 of them.

Ike Warns Dutch Quit Schelde Islands

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS (CP)—Gen. Eisenhower warned residents to evacuate immediately the Dutch islands in the Schelde estuary because "there is every likelihood of a severe and prolonged aerial bombardment" will start soon.

The message said the danger of flooding the islands, "also threatens your lives."

The string of six or seven inhabited islands lies off the southwest coast of Holland, south of Rotterdam.

Fisherman Drowned In Alberni Canal

Tom Bowers, Vancouver fisherman, aged 65, was drowned in the Alberni Canal Sunday when his 32-foot troller struck a submerged rock and sank near Ecoole, provincial police reported today. The body was recovered. His partner, whose last name is Butterfield, escaped.

Bowers' address was given as Grandview Hotel, Vancouver. There are no known relatives.

Brydson Wins

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—Gordon Brydson of Toronto today captured the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship, shooting a one-over-par 72 to whip Gerry Proulx of Montreal in an 18-hole play-off. The two men, who tied at the end of 72 holes of medal play Sunday, battled the way until the 16th, when Brydson came up with an eagle three on the 270-yard par-five hole, and followed that with a par on the 17th and a birdie on the 18th. Proulx did the 16th in par, but skidded on the next hole and wound up with a 77.

To be sure of full enjoyment in every cup it is necessary to use really good coffee.

Maxwell House will give you, too, the fullest coffee satisfaction because:

1. It's blended from rare, extra-flavor coffees, each with its own special quality of flavor, body or fragrance.

Vancouver Officer Construction Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—Munitions Minister Howe has announced the resignation of John Schofield of Montreal as construction controller.

Maj.-Gen. John Peter Mackenzie of Vancouver, associate controller, succeeds Mr. Schofield, whose resignation is effective immediately. While Mr. Schofield is returning to his position as chief architect of the Canadian National Railways, his services will continue to be available to the department as a consultant.

Gen. Mackenzie served with the Canadian army in the First Great War and the present war. He joined the Munitions Department in his present position in June of this year. Prior to the war he was general manager of Hamilton Bridge (Western) Ltd., Vancouver.

Fear Hundreds Drown

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Government officials expressed fears today 200 to 300 persons had drowned in floods as high waters still menaced sections of southern Mexico, the result of violent storms which subsided several days ago.

Extent of death and destruction was undetermined because of disrupted communications.

Shortage of Potatoes
LONDON (CP)—Nazi Reichminister Herbert Backe warned the German people in a broadcast Sunday that the potato crop would be mediocre following last year's bad harvest, and presented a gloomy view of the food situation.

"More than in any other year of this war, nutrition will depend upon the German harvest and German production," he said.

"Large and important occupied territories with their substantial food supplies can no more be included in our plans."

Canada Mourns 'Grand Old Man' As Sir W. Mulock Dies At 101

TORONTO (CP)—Sir William Mulock, former Chief Justice of Ontario, sole surviving member of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's original cabinet and known as "Canada's Grand Old Man," died in his sleep at his Toronto home Sunday at the age of 101 years.

Sir William, who only last January was the centre of attraction at a number of functions in honor of his 101st birthday, had not been ill, but had a nurse in attendance at his home. His grandson, Col. W. P. Mulock, Dominion Postmaster-General, said he "slipped quietly away at 7:30 a.m."

SPONSORED KING
Distinguished as a jurist, educationist and statesman, Sir William was responsible for introducing Canada's present Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, into public life 44 years ago, when, as federal Labor Minister, he made Mr. King his deputy. The two had been close friends since.

A graduate of Osgoode Hall, Sir William practiced law before he entered Parliament as Liberal member for York North in 1882. When he retired in 1905 he had never been defeated in an election. Nine of those years in the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier were spent as Postmaster-General and Sir William became known as the father of Empire penny postage which was accepted by an inter-imperial postage conference in London in 1898.

Following his retirement from politics he was appointed chief justice of the exchequer division of the high court of justice in Ontario and later became chief justice of the province.

VARITY CHANCELLOR
Sir William was long connected with the University of Toronto, where he himself graduated. He became its chancellor in 1924 and remained in that post until his death.

Somewhere along the road of life, Sir William dropped a year of his age. His last birthday was celebrated as his 100th, but the records show he was born Jan. 19, 1843, in the village of Bond Head, Simcoe County, Ont., the son of a country doctor, Thomas Mulock, a native of Ireland.

Brought up on a farm, Sir William always championed the rights of the agriculturist when he entered public life.

In his later years in the judiciary he more than once attacked what he felt was a tendency of Canadian legislatures to encroach on judicial ground. He believed that "British justice is a priceless possession."

In his late years Sir William was frequently interviewed and always the subject of his age came up. He attributed his longevity to his choice of healthy parents. He once said that he was "living on borrowed time, but I enjoy it just the same."

Funeral services will be held way toward winter fodder for cattle.

Over 25,000 school children and factory and office workers left town to help gather the harvest. The help of school children is very important. In 1943 alone, school children of the region weeded and harvested 1,000 hectares of grain and were a great help in planting potatoes and in hay making.

Harvesting coincides with another important season of our work, that of autumn sowing. In order to supplement the insufficient number of horses and tractors in the region, collective farmers have broken 20,000 head of cattle to harness to work on the farms, transporting sheaves and grain. It is proved this practice is not harmful to the cattle breeding industry as only those cattle that are poor producers are used as draught animals. The help they provide is very valuable; there were instances of collective farms plowing from 10 to 15 hectares per bullock.

Summer nurseries and kindergartens have been organized in collective farms to free women for harvest period. Those available can cater for about 60,000 children. Mothers will be able to work in fields, knowing their children are well cared for.

First days of harvest work show men and women of collective farms are making a fine effort to get the harvest in rapidly.

Grain deliveries are already being made to state granaries. Collective farms all realize their first duty is to provide grain for the state. These are not idle words. In 1943, collective farmers of Vologda provided the state with 3,000,000 pounds of grain and 1,500,000 pounds of potatoes, more than in 1938. The fourth wartime harvest will be another important contribution to victory by Vologda collective farmers.

Careful preparations were made to reap the grain in good time. Over 550 combine harvesters are working on collective farms gathering three-quarters of the harvest. Hand labor using sickles and scythes also play an important part.

Harvesting grain is easier as collective farmers already had mown grass before the most of the grain began to ripen. On Vologda region a million hectares grass land has been mown. Over 807,000 tons of silage has been laid in which will go a long

Nascopie Returns From Arctic Trip

By HAROLD FREEMAN
MONTREAL (CP)—The Nascopie came back from the north Sunday, reporting "a fine trip" and everything well with residents of Canada's outposts high above the Arctic Circle.

The Hudson's Bay Company ship completed her three-month, 12,000-mile jaunt with hardly a hitch and right on schedule, in contrast with the heavy ice conditions of last year which forced the temporary closing of Port Ross on the southern coast of Somerset Island and delayed the veteran icebreaker almost a month.

Fort Ross was reopened this trip, when the 32-year-old Nascopie crashed through to the site with comparative ease. It was the first time in three years she had been able to reach Port Ross, the port having been closed and the post manager and his assistants brought out by plane after the Nascopie had failed to run in supplies last year and in 1942.

Capt. F. T. Smellie of Winnipeg and Maj. D. L. McKeand of Ottawa, Superintendent of Arctic Control for the federal government, agreed that "everything went fine" this time and that the 6,500 white and Eskimo residents of the north were "in good condition."

New Immigration Head for C.P.R.

MONTREAL—H. C. P. Cresswell has been appointed chief commissioner, department of immigration and colonization, Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters at Montreal, succeeding J. R. K. McAllister, who after many years of service, asked to be relieved from active service, according to an announcement here today by D. C. Coleman, chairman and president of the company.

Mr. McAllister will continue to act as consultant to the department so that his experience and judgment may be available to the officers in framing their policies for the postwar period, Mr. Coleman said.

Mr. Cresswell will be succeeded as European colonization manager by J. D. Cameron at present special representative in the office of the vice-president here.

Canadians Unhappy, Says Sydney Paper

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—"Fact," a supplement to the Sydney Sunday Sun, in an article Sunday on the arrival of the Canadian troops to land in Australia, said the Canadian soldier "isn't very happy about the way Canadian troops have been used in the war," adding, "they want to go in as Canadians, not just as British troops or Allied troops."

The troops arrived last week following announcement at Ottawa last August that between 400 and 500 officers and men—mainly technical personnel—would be attached to the Indian and Australian armies.

Would Fire Draffees Employed By Army

OTTAWA (CP)—The removal of draffees employed in the army direction of records is urged by the Canadian Legion in a letter to Defence Minister Ralston. The letter, signed by J. G. G. Herwig, general secretary of the Legion, says the matter was brought to Col. Ralston's attention last January when reports indicated that men called up under the National Mobilization Regulations might infiltrate into key posts to the disadvantage of general service personnel and veterans of the first Great War.

69 Refugees Come From Nazi Europe

By GUY BEAUDRY

MONTREAL (CP)—A happy-looking group of 69 European refugees, including Poles, Romanians, Germans and Hungarians—most of them Jewish—arrived here Sunday with the hope of ending in Canada a long trek that brought them from central Europe and the Balkans to America, always one jump ahead of the dreaded Nazi Gestapo.

This group—the third to enter Canada within a few months under special arrangements made with Canadian immigration authorities by the Canadian National Committee on Refugees and the United Jewish Refugee and War Relief agencies—arrived in Philadelphia Saturday aboard the neutral Portuguese ship Nyassa, which sailed from Lisbon.

The original group of 76 that landed in Philadelphia had slightly thinned before arriving here, as a Canadian Jewish Congress official said some of them "have been temporarily held up in the United States."

The same official said it appeared at the present time that the group would "probably" be the last one to enter Canada under the special provisions admitting selected refugees from Portugal for the duration. He said the number admitted this far totaled some 400.

Premier's Tribute

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King said Sunday night that Sir William Mulock, who died Sunday in Toronto, will be "remembered as one who through out a long, vigorous and active life, was, at all times, a friend of the oppressed, a lover of liberty, a champion of freedom, one who held high and firm the standards of right and truth and justice."

"For these qualities and for what they represent of true greatness, even more than for his many attainments, though they were of the highest, Sir William's name will be held in honored memory," Mr. King said in a prepared tribute.

"He has left to Canada a noble example of disinterested citizenship and of public duty. He will be remembered by future generations among the makers of Canada as one whose life extended over a century of years, and was devoted throughout to the public good."

Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret of the Supreme Court of Canada said that the death of Sir William Mulock "will be felt as a personal blow by all Canadians."

"Sir William was a man of great strength, mental and physical, conspicuous for marked individuality," the Chief Justice said.

Canadian Victory At Calais Success For New Technique

WITH THE 1st CANADIAN ARMY (CP-Reuters)—The capture of Calais has given yet another demonstration of the new battle technique that has worked so well for the Allies during and following the break-out from Normandy—the use of medium and heavy bombers in close support of ground troops.

The capture of Calais followed closely the pattern set previously at Le Havre and Boulogne—which in turn were fashioned after the great air blows which helped the infantry south of Caen.

In the major revision of military textbooks that will follow campaign the description of this technique will have a high place. Calais fell before blows from the land and air.

This land and air attack began Sept. 20 with the sustained bombing of fortified positions about seven miles to the west of the town.

Between Sept. 20 and Sept. 28 more than 11,500 tons of bombs were dropped by the R.A.F. bomber command.

The target area included the defences of Calais and other fortified positions as well as the gun positions at Cap Gris Nez, which were attacked as part of the same operation.

The accuracy of this bombing was 100 per cent and the tremendous blasts did not injure one single Canadian soldier.

On the last day of their assault, positions to the east of Calais were bombed as well as the gun posts at Cap Gris Nez.

All air attacks were exactly coordinated with the advance of the Canadian troops.

Coldwell, 2 M.P.'s In Belgium, France

BRUSSELS (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, leader of Canada's Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, arrived in Brussels by airplane Sunday night, accompanied by Clarence Gillis and P. E. Wright, C.C.F. members in the House of Commons for Cape Breton South and Melfort, Sask., respectively. They plan to remain in Belgium and France three or four days, visiting some Canadian hospitals and formations.

The party today started a drive through the Canadian army area, visiting old battlefields of this war and the first Great War, and also planning to go back along the line of the 1st Canadian Army's advance to Dieppe.

The C.C.F. members said they were anxious to see the Canadian forces in the field and the visit was arranged for them as soon as the Commonwealth Labor Conference which they had been attending in London was concluded.

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK

FEW MEN OR WOMEN HAVE LIVED continuously in Canada for a whole century. Fewer still have been permitted to live much longer than the Psalmist's allotted span with an intimate association with the machinery which developed this country from the status of a sparsely-populated colony into one of the great sovereign nations of the world. But this was the unmatched record of the late Sir William Mulock, Canada's "Grand Old Man," who passed to his last rest in his sleep yesterday morning at the age of 101 years. What is more extraordinary still, moreover, is the fact that this fine Canadian retained all his faculties and interests until the very last.

Sir William Mulock's life, of course, spans the history of modern Canada; for a century of time is but a few seconds in the life of a nation. As far back as 1882 he entered Parliament as Liberal member for the constituency of North York, filling cabinet positions under his intimate friend and leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Forty-four years ago, as the Dominion's first Minister of Labor, he sponsored the present Prime Minister of Canada's entrance into the public arena by appointing him his deputy in that important office. From then until the present the two had been deeply attached to one another.

Like Mr. King, Sir William adored his mother; he was the eldest of the family when his father died and shouldered many parental responsibilities. Somebody once asked him how he accounted for his unusual chest expansion; he put it down to the enormous amount of wood he was required to chop in his early manhood. And when he had passed the century mark he submitted to the customary inquiry as to what he attributed his long life; he had "chosen healthy parents." Nor does there seem to be any record of Sir William succumbing to the whims of the faddists. At all times he fed the "inner man" with such "solids" and "liquids" as appealed to his palate. But, above all, he possessed a trained and active mind and a faculty for making and retaining friends which, after all, are the main attributes of a long and useful life.

If there is one Canadian son, therefore, to whom the term unique may be applied in all its meanings, it is to the late Sir William Mulock—whose legal, political, social, charitable and religious life might be contemplated with profit and pleasure by millions of Canadians, living and yet unborn. All Canada today salutes the memory of a noble soul.

B.C. ELECTRIC'S VISION

BY THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF ITS $50,000,000 program for postwar expansion and modernization of its services, the British Columbia Electric Railway Company has set a mark in progressive and practical outlook which the general public will applaud and appreciate. It demonstrates that this organization has passed through the blueprinting stage into the realm of definite planning—a new manifestation of the vision and courage of private enterprise and initiative. Here is a lead which should be more widely emulated in numerous fields.

The proportions of the program with which the public now is apprised are significant of the confidence the directors and officers of the company have in the future of this province—and particularly in the more densely-populated communities. Not only is the program an earnest of the awareness of the organization of the possibilities of future development when the world has regained its sanity; its specific detail is evidence of meticulous appreciation of its own responsibilities to its public.

Victoria, of course, is especially interested in the plans for the modernization of the local transportation system. Years of talk and negotiation have marked no advance toward an amelioration of a condition in this regard which requires no emphasis. And the exactions of war have added to the general confusion of outlook. The company's announcement, therefore, shines like a great white light on the hopes and possibilities of the future. We now have the promise of modern trackless trolleys and buses—which should make possible easy extensions and the rearrangement in old routes to meet the requirements in the era of peace to which we all look forward. The age of a rigid transportation system, obviously, has passed.

In its main essentials and implications, the company's program should go a long way toward easing the rehabilitation and employment problems in the years immediately following the end of the war. In this one case alone, therefore, is the embodiment of vision without which no approach to the imperatives of the future can be effectively undertaken. In other words, the B.C. Electric's budgetary proposals, regardless of projected government action in respect of other aspects of its activities, is an encouraging challenge to all private industry.

Nothing succeeds like success. For example, success is the only difference between a great liberator and a damned rebel.

THE PRESIDENT'S WARNING

ARGENTINA AND HER PRO-NAZI GOVERNment continue to command the attention of the British Prime Minister and the President of the United States. Last Friday in Washington, Mr. Roosevelt served notice on the Ferrell-Peron dictatorship in Buenos Aires that if the "growth of Nazi-Fascist influence" there continues to impede the United Nations' program, that South American nation will have to pay for it in the future. And while the President exposed what he called the "vicious rumor"—circulated in part by Nazi agencies and in part by "irresponsible" persons—"that our councils are divided on the course of our policy toward Argentina," he borrowed the following statement from Mr. Churchill's speech of the day before to give emphasis to his own indictment of the Latin-American country in question:

"This is not like some small wars in the past where all could be forgotten and forgiven. Nations must be judged by the part they play. Not only belligerents but neutrals will find that their position in the world cannot remain entirely unaffected by the part they have chosen to play in the crisis of the war."

Mr. Roosevelt added to the foregoing his own assertion that the Argentine government "has repudiated solemn inter-American obligations" providing for a common front against Axis aggression, and added:

"Unless we now demonstrate a capacity to develop a tradition of respect for such obligations among civilized nations, there can be little hope for a system of international security, theoretically created to maintain principles for which peoples are today sacrificing to the limit of their resources both human and material."

About the only concession made to the Allies is contained in a Foreign Office statement in Buenos Aires to the effect that Britain had been informed war criminals would be barred from Argentina, and would be prohibited from depositing funds or acquiring property. This may be so; but when Secretary of State Cordell Hull recently exposed the Argentine capital as the headquarters of "a Fascist movement," General Farrell replied that his government represented the will of the people, and that civilian control would be restored "at the first opportunity." But this obvious imitation of the Hitlerian technique does not stand up against the facts; and the objections to the policies of the Ferrell-Peron junta of military officers can be set down under three headings:

1. It is establishing a totalitarian state, suppressing civil liberties, and harnessing all agencies for the purpose of the dictatorship.
2. It is pro-Axis. It has not only failed to implement pledges given by the preceding Ramirez regime, but has taken steps designed to give positive aid to the enemies of the rest of the American republics.
3. It has dedicated itself to rearmament, under the Peron "Military Plan," with the acknowledged intention of using military force to attain its ends.

The men in control at Buenos Aires make no bones about their plans to prepare the Argentinians "for a warlike life." The whole system now being developed, internally and for its designs on neighboring states, is too reminiscent of what went on in Germany between 1933 and 1939 to permit of any delay in dealing with it—either as a regional peace problem or in such other manner as all the United Nations may select. For this hemispheric malignant growth will have to be cut out before it becomes unmanageable.

COLD COMFORT FOR NAZIS

GERMAN SPOKESMEN HAVE TRIED to cheer up a sadly-disillusioned people with dissertations on the advantages that would accrue to the Wehrmacht as "successful detaching movements" shortened lines of communications on all three fronts. Were it not for several qualifying factors, of course, the argument would have a good deal of merit.

In the first place, internal communications in the Reich already have suffered severely from constant bombing attacks; this should suggest to the optimistic Nazi propagandists that when the final test resolves itself exclusively into the battle of Germany there will be considerably less territory demanding attention from the combined air forces of the United Nations.

In the second place, therefore, only climatic conditions will have any effect on the amount of attention which both enemy communications and industry will get from the air; in other words, Allied aerial blows which for a long time have fallen practically all over Europe will soon be concentrated solely on the Reich itself. And by that time there will be enough ports of entry to the continent available to the armies of liberation to overcome such difficulties of supply as have been encountered in recent weeks.

The new American attack against the defenses in the Aachen region—under way as this is written—may be complemented by an eastward push by the British Second Army from Holland. These are some of the answers to yesterday's Berlin radio assertion that a "miracle" had produced a complete stabilization of the western front.

FOUR-PLY GREETINGS

WE READ WHERE MISS ELIZABETH Firestone, daughter of the tire and rubber magnate, is starting out to make a name for herself as a popular song writer. We wish her well. May her talent prove to be natural, not synthetic, and may her path on the road to fame be marked by an original tread, without suspicion of recapturing of Gershwin or Jerome Kern.

The proper measure of a man is the kind of company in which he feels at ease.

One thing will balance another, and there is a defence against every weapon—except the one cupid uses.

If battle noises injure nerves, we know why civilian patients reach the hospital in a state of shock. It's the howling ambulance siren.

PROBLEMS OF A GERMAN SETTLEMENT

THE PROBLEMS of the German settlement beyond the first phase of military occupation—particularly, what is to be the enduring political order of the German nation, what is to be its social economy—cannot be resolved at this time. He who thinks, for example, that he can draw lines on a map and then order Germany partitioned, is indulging his own fantasies. He could just as well order the cook to unscramble yesterday's scrambled eggs.

Whether Germany should and can be partitioned is an unanswerable question until we know what the Germans are like who will rise to leadership after the destruction of the Nazi regime. We cannot know this until as a result of the purge of the Nazis, perhaps of a German rebellion against their masters, and of Allied government leading to the restoration of local and provincial self-government, we find out what Germans the Germans will follow. It may be that these postwar Germans will wish to break up the German Reich. It may be that they will wish to decentralize it. If what we are looking for is a lasting solution, we must not for a moment imagine that it can be achieved without a very large measure of German consent and participation.

THE CRUCIAL need at this time is that we should think systematically, which means above all to realize that these problems can be decided—rightly only if they are decided in the right order. First things come first, and before second things, because the second things will be different depending on how we have dealt with the first things. Thus we can think about dinner but we had better not order it until we know how we feel when we have eaten and digested our lunch. Whether Germany is to be partitioned cannot and should not be decided until German self-government has been restored up to the level of the historic German states—such as Bavaria, Baden, Wurttemberg.

Partition is a confusing word for the thing that Mr. Sumner Welles and others are advocating. To partition a country has always meant—as in the case of Poland in the 18th century—to divide it up and then annex the parts to its neighbors. But nobody dreams of annexing all the separated parts of Germany. What is really meant by "partition" is the dissolution of the old German states which have become incorporated in the Reich.

NOW SECESSION, without annexation to any one else, would leave several independent German states. Mr. Welles thinks there should be three. Others think there should be more than three. But the great question is how are these "partitioned" German states to stay partitioned? If they like independence and cherish it, that is one thing. But if they resent the partition and long to reunite, then the attempt of the Allies to enforce partition becomes like the attempt to unscramble yesterday's scrambled eggs.

For this reason we must not, I believe, waste time arguing fiercely about whether we think Germany should be divided up. We must fix our attention on the necessary and prior problems of administering the military government of Germany in such a way as to promote the appearance by democratic processes of trustworthy Germans. Only when that has been done can we know what we are talking about when we consider the German political settlement.

AUTUMN

"If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"—Shelley.

By DONALD A. FRASER

Autumn weaves her pall of quiet—
Quiet rest her Winter's rage
Tears all Nature in wild riot—
Riot only War can gauge!

Clouds o'erhang the hill and valley—
Valley lush with corn and trees
That have yielded fruit, and dally—
Dally now with Winds that freeze!

Nature calls to Earth, "Be free, now—
Free now for your gaudion blest;
You have earned your rightful fee, now—
Fee now paid in honest rest!

"Though winds rage, and storms may bellow,
Bellow loud o'er land and main,
And you lose your red and yellow—
Yellow leaves, and ruddy grain—

"Rule I still rude Winter's minions—
Minions now so close at hand,
Ready to outspread stern pinions—
Pinions that despoil the land.

"Yet, beneath it all, you, sleeping—
Sleeping soft with pulse apace,
Form a new sweet Spring up-creeping—
Creeping up with shining face!"

SOME MILITARY HISTORY

From J. I. Craig, Ex-5th Battalion, R.S. (Queen's Edinburgh), New York

I was reading about my old regiment, the Royal Scots (Lothian) Regiment. The title, "Pontius Pilate's Bodyguards," was derived from the tradition that its origin dates back to the very beginning of the Christian era. The following story is apropos:
One of the Garde Ecossaise and one of the Garde Suisse of the French King were debating one day which of the two was the older foundation. "Why," said the Swiss, to clinch the matter, "we were on duty at the Crucifixion." "Yes, quite true," replied the Scot. "We were not on duty that day, but if we had been, we would not have slept at our posts."

Theme song for control of Germany:
"Not for just a year, not for five or ten,
but always."

Success is a matter of thinking in big terms. Dealing in car load lots is just as easy as dealing in nickel bags.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The phenomenon of the heavy German counterattacks throughout the length of the western front Sunday means the enemy is trying to throw the Allies off balance and thus delay the great offensive which is boiling up.

This is a typical German defensive operation when under threat of attack. While they were repulsed in all sectors, it was a logical procedure in an effort to keep the Allied battleline unsettled.

The chief significance of this general countermove, beyond the fact that it signals an Allied drive, is that the Germans still have the strength and the will to carry out such initiative. However, there's no reason for the surprise—which seems to be rather widespread—over the fact that the Germans are making a fight of it.

A lot of folk seem to have jumped to the conclusion that the war was over when they saw the Germans in headlong retreat from the battle of Normandy.

There was no occasion for any such belief, because there was every indication Hitler had the intention of making a stand on his own frontiers and would have the strength to do so—for a time.

Now those who underestimated the German ability to carry on are plunged into gloom by being reminded there's a possibility the war may run into the new year. Of course that's possible. However, there's no cause for pessimism over the way things are going. While nobody can pin down the length of the war, and while it may indeed go into 1945, it also is possible that Gen. Eisenhower's hope of victory this year may be fulfilled.

The failure of the heroic British airborne force to pave the way for a breakthrough in the Arnhem sector of Holland, thereby possibly enabling the Allies to end the German right wing and turn the war quickly, shouldn't be mistaken for a major defeat. It might have been

Chief Justice Named Administrator Of Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP)—Question of a successor to Lieutenant-Governor A. P. McNab has been shelved till the end of the year by the federal government.

This was the inference contained in a telegram from Ottawa authorities to Premier T. C. Douglas Saturday.

The telegram said the leave of absence of the Lieutenant-Governor would be granted, effective Oct. 1, but would extend only to December 31.

Chief Justice W. M. Martin of the Saskatchewan Appeal Court has been appointed administrator to substitute for the Lieutenant-Governor.

It was reported in the city that the Chief Justice consented to act as an administrator only till the end of the year, but no longer.

Meantime, the provincial government is going ahead with its plans for the closing of Government House as it announced earlier. Premier Douglas has mentioned turning it into a children's hospital or a home for the aged.

Some Regina circles construed the short leave of absence as a desire on the part of the federal government to postpone naming a successor until after a federal election has been held.

Reports from Ottawa indicate the possibility of an election before Dec. 31.

'Smokes a Morale Booster'

On behalf of all Saskatchewan soldiers, Capt. G. Lockhart, 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish, to Harry Maynard, 884 Esquimalt Road, "I wish to thank you for your generous gift of 30,000 cigarettes today distributed.

"At the present time, cigarettes are high on the priority list of morale boosters and are more appreciated now than ever before. Your kindness is greatly appreciated.

"Circumstances preclude much letter-writing these days, so do not measure our gratitude by the length of this letter. Ever since D-Day we have been actively engaged with the enemy, and this is still so at the present time. The battalion has been doing well, and are, I feel, living up to the reputation of the 16th from the last war.

"We feel proud to know that the folks back home are wishing us well, and that they are expressing those good wishes as you have done with such a welcome tangible reminder."

Hall, on Government Street, on Wednesday evening, when Mrs. Jack Tang, president, Miss Dora Hope, vice-president, and Robert Lowe, secretary-treasurer, will receive the guests.

The $2,500 being raised in Victoria will be sent personally to Mrs. Sun Yat-sen, one of the fa-

Edgar D. Phillips, 58, of Sooke, lost his left arm Saturday night apparently when his arm was struck while he was passing a wood truck on the Sooke highway at Mile 19, near Cooper's Cove, Saturday night.

The arm was removed at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Constable A. W. Quinn said apparently Phillips was driving with his left elbow through the window of his car when passing a wood truck with two rows of four-foot wood, his arm was struck by the load.

The injured man was taken to hospital by constable J. Lockie of the B.C. Police.

Auxiliaries Form Provincial Command

The first Army and Navy Veterans of Canada Provincial Command Auxiliary in Canada was formed Saturday when delegates from six mainland units, Vancouver, South Vancouver, Kingsway, North Vancouver, New Westminster and White Rock, met with Victoria unit delegates in the Union Building.

Mrs. Esther Simmons was elected Provincial Command president and other officers are Mrs. Eva R. Henry, first vice-president; Mrs. Violet Moffat, second vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth Harkin, North Vancouver, secretary; Mrs. M. E. Brittain, New Westminster, treasurer.

Closer contacts between existing ladies' auxiliaries to the Army and Navy Veterans would result from the formation of a Provincial Command, Mrs. Simmons told the meeting in her presidential address.

Percy A. Lewis, president of the Army and Navy Veterans' Provincial Command, instructed the members on the duties of a provincial command.

H. E. Warburton, Provincial Command secretary, pointed out that only about half the B.C. Army and Navy Veterans' units had ladies' auxiliaries and said the necessity of rectifying this now lay in the hands of the newly-formed Provincial Command Auxiliary.

Necessity for amending the existing provincial constitution in line with new problems which would arise out of the rehabilitation of the new men and women veterans was discussed.

League work reported at the Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League held in Nanaimo showed an increase of four new subdivisions: Duncan, Salt Spring Island, Comox and Cumberland. After the registrations of the delegates from the 15 subdivisions on the island the reports of the committees were read.

The citizenship report urged all the women to use their franchise. The Red Cross report showed many articles knitted and hours given to the Red Cross workroom. The Indian Affairs committee passed a motion to donate prizes to Indian schools annually.

Miss Ann McMaisters, national president, Vancouver, stressed the need for government training to educate returned servicemen who wish to take advantage of the government scheme for land settlement, and also improve conditions of family life on farms. The national resolutions included rehabilitation plans for the post-war era. The need for social service workers was pointed out and a committee was formed to study the question.

The annual banquet was held Wednesday in the Plaza Hotel, at which the mayor of Nanaimo welcomed the Catholic Women's League to Nanaimo for their annual convention.

Mrs. Blair Reid of Victoria, retiring president, was presented with a small gift. Mrs. Kearney, accompanied by Mrs. Donegan at the piano, sang two solos.

The newly-elected officers are: President, Mrs. Arthur Smith; first vice-president, Miss M. Clay; second vice-president, Mrs. Cannon; third vice-president, Mrs. P. Shaw; corresponding secretary, Miss M. Comerford; treasurer, Mrs. M. E. O'Neill.

At the close of the convention Miss McMaster was presented with an autographed copy of "Challenge to Time and Death," by Audrey Alexander Brown. The 1945 convention will be held in Esquimalt.

on
of the month?

These are very hectic and busy times. No girl or woman can afford to spend time in bed on "certain days" of the month. So if you—on such days feel nervous, fidgety, irritable, cranky, so tired and "dragged out"—all due to functional monthly disturbances—start at once—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms.

Pinkham's Compound is different from most products for this purpose. It comes in liquid form and is made especially for women and girls. It is known as a uterine sedative, because it has a soothing effect on one of woman's most important organs.

This Great Medicine
HELPS NATURE

Lydia Pinkham's Compound is made from beneficial roots and herbs (plus Vitamin B₁). Here's a product that helps nature and that's the sensible kind of medicine to buy!

Lydia E. Pinkham's

VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Thousands upon thousands of women—rich and poor alike—have reported benefits. Take a tablespoonful of Pinkham's Compound before each meal and at bedtime. Just see if you're not delighted with results. Follow label directions. Well worth trying!

HOME FRONT NEEDS HUMOR

The chief thing that is the matter with the domestic situation and why there are so many casualties on the home front is a lack of humor. Husbands and wives take each other too seriously. They make issues of every little diversion of opinion. They turn each other's funny little ways into tragedies and break their hearts over things that they would think amusing if they happened to someone else.

Human nature being what it is, every couple who get married are bound to go through family crises, and whether these end in divorce, or estrangement, or drawing the husband and wife closer together, depends upon their sense of humor. But they must laugh with each other and not at each other.

For if laughter is an emollient that smooths over the rough places on the domestic pathway and brings husbands and wives closer together, ridicule is the sharp sword that slays love and parts them. No husband or wife ever forgives the mate who holds him or her up as a figure of fun before a guffawing audience, or whose best dinner stories are an exposure of his weakness.

Victoria West—Next meeting will be this evening at 8.

THE Home Nurse

CARE OF ELDERLY PATIENTS
CALLS FOR TACTFULNESS, SYMPATHY

By MARY BEARD
Director, Nursing Service, Red Cross

"Grandmother's broken her hip!"

This frequent but often unnecessary accident requires long, patient nursing, usually by some member of the family. Even when the patient is taken to the hospital at first, it is likely that a long period of nursing care will have to be given at home.

If the accident happens, find out why, and try to prevent its happening again. Was the floor recently waxed? Did you have scatter rugs in the hall at the foot of the stairs? Did Johnny leave his toy lamb on the bottom step?

Sometimes the door to the basement steps has been built side by side with the one opening onto the back porch or into the dining or living-room. One woman, whose mother narrowly escaped a serious fall because of confusion in recognizing the right door, simply pasted a label on the one that led to the cellar stairs.

AVOID POST-MORTEM

When the accident has happened, set about making the convalescence as endurable as you can to all concerned. A visiting nurse will be of great help until you have learned how to give a bed bath safely. After supervised practice you may do this yourself. You must be on the look-out for bed sores in caring for an old person. By properly giving back rubs and using pressure rings you may be able to prevent them.

Above all, avoid post-mortems on why the accident happened. Keep the patient as cheerful as you can and provide her with some sort of useful "busy work" that will make her feel that she is contributing something in spite of her disability.

A woman was kept in a wheel chair most of one winter because she slipped on the ice as she walked one block to church. She set about knitting socks for her soldier son and for other soldier sons; she read books she had delayed reading for years; she was able to perform many tasks for the family comfort.

Free Bulletin

On Home Canning

Following the Nanaimo deaths caused from eating home-canned salmon, Assistant Commissioner George J. Alexander of the provincial fisheries department points out that his office publishes a bulletin containing instructions for home canning of salmon. This bulletin also gives directions for curing herring, cod, salmon. It is free and may be obtained at the Parliament Buildings.

In connection with spoilage Mr. Alexander points out three paragraphs from this bulletin are especially significant, now.

SEALING GLASS JARS

"Glass jars on being packed should not be sealed tight before processing. Put the rubber ring in place and cover the jar, sealing loosely in order to permit the air to escape while cooking, thus giving a good vacuum in the finished product.

"Water boils at 212°F. under atmospheric pressure. Place container in cold water, bringing to a boil and boil steadily for three hours, taking the time from when the water begins to boil. This applies to 1-pound salmon cans or 1-pint glass jars. If quart jars are used, the time should be increased to at least four hours. The water should cover the jars or cans about an inch. It is important that the water should be kept boiling. Keep a kettle of boiling water handy in order to keep the cooking water up to the proper level as evaporation takes place.

DETECTING SPOILAGE

"All canned food, whether home or commercial canned, should be carefully examined when opened. Discard the product if the ends of the can are bulged, in glass, be suspicious of the product if the seal is broken.

Discard the product if it contains gas-bubbles or if the liquid squirts out when the can is opened. Discard the product if it is particularly soft and mushy, or slimy or mouldy in appearance. Discard it if it has a peculiar or unusual smell.

"Do not taste canned products until they have passed the appearance and odor tests. Taste only a small portion; if the taste reveals any queer, sour, or musty off-flavor, under no circumstances use the food. Burn spoiled canned food. Do not throw it to the chickens or pigs. It is as detrimental to them as it would be to you."

Oysters, during the non-official season just opened, will be fewer in number and smaller in size, it is predicted.

Londos Beats Steele

CALGARY (CP)—Almost an hour of scientific grappling between Jim Londos and Ray Steele at Victoria Pavilion here Saturday night left fans in doubt as to who was really the winner.

Londos was accredited the official victory by virtue of the third fall gained by a body press. It came a few seconds after most of the crowd was convinced Steele had won by a similar hold which the referee failed to see.

Langford—A dance was held in Colwood Hall when proceeds from the affair and a contest aided a fund for a moving picture projector for the school. Mrs. A. F. Bayles, president of the association, was in charge of refreshments; assisted by Mesdames Alex Turner, G. Lamb and J. D. Pearson. Mrs. B. Deane Freeman was general convener while W. H. McKenzie and P. Strachan were at the door.

Are your Children THIN NERVOUS UNDER PAR?

Try New, Improved OVALTINE

Children who are thin, nervous and under par, science has discovered, are often found to be eating foods which do not give them enough of the essential food elements everyone needs for health.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B₁ and D, Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron—all from Ovaltine alone. Also quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child is thin, nervous, under par, or eats poorly, start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine regularly. Get Ovaltine today at drug or food store.

This picture of Peter Stursberg, former Victoria Daily Times reporter, now with CBC in Europe, was taken from a pastel done in Italy a few months ago by a famous Italian painter, Spoltari. In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stursberg, Thompson Ave., the 31-year-old radio correspondent said that during his wanderings around the Italian front he had come across Spoltari, who offered to put him on canvas. He had escaped from Rome and crossed the Allied lines because he was an anti-Fascist, although years ago he had done Mussolini's portrait five times and also had painted Hitler and Pilsudski and sketched Stalin while at a congress of painters in the Soviet Union.

STATUE OF CUPID LED MICHAEL ANGELO TO GO TO ROME

A statue of Cupid helped to start a young Italian on the road to fame. Known as Michael Angelo (or Michelangelo) the artist lived in Florence, and in that city he carved a statue of the god of love.

The statue was bought by a cardinal who believed it had been made by an ancient Greek or Roman sculptor. The cardinal earned the truth later, and was far from being well-pleased. Other men at Rome, however, saw the statue and wanted to meet the young man who had made it.

That event led Michael Angelo to Rome at the age of 20. In Rome he spent much of his time during the 68 years which he remained in his life.

He cut statues for the Vatican, and his chisel brought forth a huge statue of David for the city been called "the most sublime ever chiseled from marble."

Perhaps equally famous are his paintings on the ceiling of the Sistine chapel. When he was 33 years old, Michael Angelo was asked by Pope Julius II to decorate the chapel ceiling, but he protested, saying:

"It is not right that I should be given this task. I am more a sculptor than a painter. Raphael is the artist who should paint the ceiling."

Despite his protests, the work was assigned to him. For four years he labored on it. Dividing the ceiling into nine sections, he painted on each a scene from the Old Testament of the Bible. The figures are not perfect in form, but they seem very lifelike. During much of the time he was painting them, he lay on his back on a scaffold 65 feet above the floor.

Twenty-five years after he finished his work on the Old Testament scenes, Michael Angelo was asked by another pope to make a painting of "The Last Judgment." To this task, he also gave four years. It was his last important picture. During the remaining years of his life, he served as architect of St. Peter's. He died at a ripe old age, less than a month short of his 89th birthday.

Michael Angelo was filled with energy, and seemed never to grow tired of what he was doing. There were days when he ate only a crust of bread while working on a statue or a painting. He possessed a fiery temper and took part in bitter quarrels; but the energy in him and his love of art drove him on to one success after another.

Dr. R. Redler Here

Dr. Richard Redler, former director of the Austrian Press under the Schuschnigg administration, and now research assistant to the Dominion-Provincial Conference, visited Victoria over the week-end from Montreal.

Schuschnigg and Redler were close friends in their university days. When the Germans absorbed Austria and made Schuschnigg a prisoner, Dr. Redler, after being detained by the Nazis in concentration camps, escaped to Switzerland, and from that country made his way to France, where he was given charge of radio broadcasts from Paris to Austria. While in Paris he wrote for many of the leading newspapers, and conducted German language broadcasts, working in conjunction with the English playwright Noel Coward, director of English propaganda in France at that time. After Paris was taken by the Nazis in June, 1940, Dr. Redler crossed the Atlantic to New York, thence making his way to Canada. He visited Victoria in the summer of 1941, then went east to offer his services to the Canadian government.

Victoria Aged Pensioners will meet tomorrow in the Baptist schoolroom, Quadra Street, at 2:30. Rev. T. H. McAllister will be guest speaker.

Servicemen's Wives Form Housing Group

A group of 15 servicemen's wives who are seeking better housing accommodation met at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Hutchinson, 745 Front Street, and formed themselves into the Service Wives' Housing Committee.

They discussed the city of Victoria's offer to Ottawa to provide $1 lots for construction by federal authorities of homes for servicemen's families, on a housing scheme similar to that of Wartime Housing. As soon as further word is received on the matter the committee hopes to meet with the city council, Mrs. Hutchinson said.

Mrs. S. Mitchell, president, was chairman. The next meeting, to which all servicemen's wives are invited to attend, will be held at the home of Mrs. F. J. Pattison, 703 Pine Street, at 8, Wednesday evening.

200 Local Children Write to Quiz Kids

More than 200 Victoria youngsters have availed themselves of the offer of the Quiz Kids to send their autographs to any Victoria child who wrote for it. When the Quiz Kids put on their show for the Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund Sept. 10, there were so many seeking autographs that it was impossible for them to take the time to give them, so the other arrangement was made.

Miss E. M. Hickock, assistant program director, who was with the party of the Victoria trip, writes: "We had such a delightful time in Victoria. It makes us want to come back and tour your entire country! It is indeed one of the highlights of our entire trip."

Publicity releases that are sent out to all leading American and Canadian daily papers each week are still commenting and using anecdotes from the children's Victoria trip.

Of the four Quiz Kids that visited Victoria, only Harve Fischman, aged 14, has appeared on the last two weeks' programs. The other three, Joel Kupperman, Richard Williams and Ruthie Duskin are taking a rest.

Jews Celebrate Feast of Booths

Biblical Feast of Sukes (Booths) will be celebrated for eight days, Oct. 2 to 9, and in Orthodox Synagogues for nine days, according to word received from the Commission on Information about Judaism of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, today.

"The festival is of ancient origin, but in its modern form combines many ideas. The most characteristic feature is the injunction that every Israelite should dwell in booths for eight days."

"Adherence to simplicity is taught by the symbol of Booths. It is a reminder that our Biblical ancestors so dwelt when they journeyed out of Egypt. It harks back also to a practice of Palestine and other oriental countries where the short harvest season had to be improved by a speedy gathering in of the fruits of the field," the commission says in a prepared notice.

Today the festival is observed as a thanksgiving-day and harvest feast according to the commission.

Club Calendar

There will be no luncheon meeting of the Gyo Club this week, because the installation party is being held Wednesday evening in the Empress Hotel.

Rotary's Thursday luncheon program in the Empress Hotel will be under the direction of the club's agricultural committee, and prizes to the winners of the kitchen garden contest will be presented. W. H. Warren, parks superintendent, will speak on "Parks," and Ed White, provincial department of agriculture, will speak on "Agriculture in General."

Lions Club will hold a business meeting at their Thursday luncheon in Spencer's dining-room. Fall activity and raising funds for the Royal Jubilee Hospital will be discussed.

200 Workers Needed In Packing Plants

Hundreds of additional men are required for mining and forestry operations in Saskatchewan said the minister.

The more than 2,500 harvesters now at work in Saskatchewan grain fields from eastern Canada will return to their homes in Ontario and Quebec early in October.

By PETE SALLAWAY

LOOKS LIKE there might be a new deal for basketball in Victoria this winter. Had a chat the other day with Jack Phillion, newly-elected secretary, and he was telling me of plans being laid to really put the cage sport over with a bang during the coming campaign. The hoppers injected a lot of new blood into their executive and it begins to look like it was a smart move. Along with Phillion, Gordie Perkins, the new vice-president, and Wally Smith, who takes over as treasurer, the trio represent three young fellows who are not afraid to try out new ideas.

BASKETBALL, with no other serious competition from counter attractions, should enjoy a real season. The game will not have to vie with hockey this winter for public support and, with proper handling, should attract good gates. Although the prospects for a senior men's league are not bright at the moment the cagers should come up with some smart aggregations in the minor divisions. The officials are counting on the players themselves to give a helping hand in their promotion plans and if everybody co-operates it looks like a good season ahead for the hoopla lads and lassies.

RECENT circular received from that famous sports organization, Ducks Unlimited, gives one an idea of just what a mammoth association this group has become. At a recent meeting held in Minneapolis, 9,500 duck hunters, men and women, young and old, crowded the vast civic auditorium. Each paid $1 to see wildlife movies, draw attendance prizes; hear speakers on DU's work and help supply the funds for expanding the organization's conservation crusade. Net proceeds exceeded $5,500. Now here's the strange part of it all—That sum starts a drive for funds to build a "Minnesota Duck Factory" in the Canadian west. To build this "Lake Minnesota" the sum of $25,000 is necessary. Minnesota wants the biggest duck factory in Canada.

LISTENING to the radio version of the Willie Pep-Chalky Wright featherweight title fight, it seemed that Wright spent the entire evening with Pep's left hand on some part of his face. If Pep wasn't landing a left jab it was a southpaw hook. For a fighter of Wright's experience (he's engaged in over 300 bouts) the negro veteran showed mighty little defence against the point-winning left. On a point-basis Pep must have taken the decision by a terrific margin.

ONLY 22 years of age and with the sensational record of 79 victories in 80 fights Pep threatens to become one of the greatest featherweights in history providing he doesn't outgrow the division. Often referred to as the "Dancing Master" Pep does not appear to pack dynamite in his fists but he carries enough speed to jab his opponents dizzy. Friday night against Wright he fought a strictly defensive fight with the Los Angeles challenger doing all the leading. Only when he was caught by right hands on a couple of occasions did Pep show any desire to stand up and punch it out. Only trouble with this type of fighter will be when he meets another boy that elects to fight the same way. That would prove a pretty full affair for the customers. But will-o'-wisp Pep is going to be featherweight ruler for a long time unless the crop of present scrappers comes up with a new sensation.

NAVAL COLLEGE WINS

In a practice rugby match Saturday Naval College Intermediate defeated Victoria College 14 to 0 on the grounds at Hatley Park.

Action As Soccer Season Opens

Williams, in goal for Nanaimo, leaps high into the air to literally grab the ball off the head of George Payne, Victoria centre-forward, during Saturday's opening match of the 1944-45 season at Athletic Park. Although he blocked Payne on this effort the big fellow picked himself off a pair of counters as the local all-stars marked up a 3 to 1 triumph before a good crowd.

Driving through for a pair of goals in the final 45 minutes of play, Victoria all-stars turned back Nanaimo. Columbus Club 3 to 1 in the intercity soccer match here Saturday.

Considering it was their first game of the season and the initial time they had played together as a team, the Victoria squad turned in a creditable exhibition. Veteran Louis DeCosta returned to action in goal and looked his old self as he handled a number of dangerous drives in capable fashion. Barney Barnwell and George Leggett proved a pair of sound backs, while the halfbacks gave them good support. The forward line, although it passed up many scoring opportunities, was always on the ball. Returning after a year's absence, Gordie Bell was particularly dangerous on the right wing.

Nanaimo fielded an eleven missing five regulars, and the up-landers had great difficulty handling the ball on the grass turf after doing all their practicing on a hard pitch.

Opening counter of the match came halfway through the first period when Bell lifted a high cross in front of the Nanaimo goal and Payne headed the ball past Williams. Nanaimo took up the offensive in an effort to get the equalizer and just before half-time deadlocked the count when English lifted the ball in front of the Victoria net and it deflected off a local player into the net, giving DeCosta no chance.

Second half saw Victoria have a decided margin on the play. Williams worked hard to keep his net clear but Conti finally beat him on a cross from the right wing. Payne made it 3 to 1 when he nipped in fast to push the ball across the line after Williams had failed to hold a hard drive. For the remainder of the match, Nanaimo worked hard to reduce the margin, but the final whistle found Victoria still on top by two goals.

Major League Batting

Boudreau-Walker Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Lou Boudreau, shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, and Fred (Dixie) Walker, outfielder of Brooklyn Dodgers, won the 1944 batting titles in the American and National Leagues. Boudreau with the lowest average in the junior loop in 36 years and Walker with the same average that topped the senior circuit last year.

The final tabulation of figures shows Boudreau batted out 191 hits in 584 times at bat for an average of .327, the lowest winning mark since Ty Cobb hit .324 for Detroit in 1908. It is the first time in his six-year major league career that Boudreau, 27-year-old manager of the Indians, has batted more than .300. His previous highest mark was .295 in 1940. Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox, now in the army, won the batting title a year ago with .328.
Walker went to bat 535 times and socked 191 hits, the same number as the American League leader, for an average of .337. Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, who placed second with .347, batted 357 last year to lead the league.

Pavot Proves Game Colt

Wins Despite Injury

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten Pavot, as expected, picked up the $34,000 first-place money and went home to spend the fall and winter in peace and quiet at the Berlin, Md., farm of his owner, Walter M. Jeffords.

That's the story of the 55th running of the $76,310 Belmont Futurity—the richest juvenile stake of the year—before 35,386 at Long Island track Saturday.
In talking up his eighth triumph in a row and boosting his year's earnings to $179,150, the Jeffords' colt gave a convincing demonstration why he is being hailed as the two-year-old champion.

As the gate was sprung another colt jumped on him, ripping his new hind-quarter from coronet to heel. It bled during

St. Louis Squad, Boilermakers Win Gridiron Battles

Canadian Football League opened its new season with a doubleheader in the six-man division Sunday at Central Park. The games were played before an enthusiastic crowd, and resulted in victories for St. Louis College, 45 to 14, over Heaneys, and Boilermakers, 47 to 0, over V.M.D.

In the first game, a veteran college outfit, after a close first quarter, romped away from a green, but very promising Heaneys squad. College opened the scoring after a long run by Fred French, and Heaneys came right back after recovering a fumble on the College 10-yard line. Brother Reilly's hard-running backs countered with another score, but Jim Smith's boys, after a weak College kickoff, sprang Gordie Hunter through the middle for a 50-yard scoring jaunt. From then on, however, it was all College. Taking advantage of a definite Heaney weakness, French filled the air with passes to O'Brien, O'Connell, Pegg and Denoni to counter with four more touchdowns without a reply. Fred French with two, Gordie Brown with two, Len French with one and Al Denoni with one, led the scoring parade for College, while Cairnie and O'Brien played a sensational defensive game.

WIN WITH EASE

Boilermakers, last year's champions under the Combine colors, had no trouble with V.M.D., who showed no offensive punch. Led by Len Scott, the one-man army, Alf Heaslip's boys showed in front early and at half-time were leading 26 to 0. Red McMillan, Kirchner, and Chapman all blocked and ran the ball well. Turner and Gower at the ends kept the V.M.D. offensive stalled all afternoon. For the losers, Don Shaw played his usual hard-charging, heads-up game. Feature of the play was Scott's 45-yard field-goal in the second quarter.

Los Angeles Wins Doubleheader To Stay in Running

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels defeated San Francisco in both ends of a doubleheader, 5 to 4 and 2 to 1, Sunday, to stay in the running for the Pacific Coast League Governors' Cup. The series now stands three games for the Seals and two for the Angels.

The two teams meet again here tonight. A victory for the Seals will give them the cup from the league champion Angels. If Los Angeles wins the deciding game will be played Tuesday night.

First game: R. H. E. San Francisco 4 7 0 Los Angeles 5 16 1 Batteries: Joyce and Sprinz, Comellas (3), Phipps (7), Prim (9) and Fernandes, Sarni, Grigg, Second.

BALTIMORE WINS
BALTIMORE (AP)—Shoving across six runs in a wild eighth-inning rally, Baltimore Orioles squared their International League final play-off series with Newark Bears Sunday at two games apiece with a 7 to 2 victory before 29,667 fans.

Lefty Joe Page had the Orioles in the palm of his hand until the fatal eighth, having allowed only two hits, one Howie Moss' towering homer high into the left field stands, while the Bears had touched Bobo Palica for seven hits and three runs.

Then Newark's infield blew up as 11 Birds paraded to the plate during an everybody-runs-on-everything rally.

St. Louis Browns Capture Flag To End Closest American Race

Tears Flow As Owner Barnes Celebrates Win

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Tears trickled down the cheeks of Don Barnes, owner of the Browns, as his players hilariously swarmed into their dressing-room Sunday with the first American League championship ever won by a St. Louis team.

The gray-haired Barnes joined in the jubilation, accepting congratulations from everyone who wanted to pump his hand while he laughed, shouted and mopped the increasing flow of tears as the celebration heightened.

Stoical Luke Sewell, Browns' manager, calmly greeted well-wishers as though he had been winning pennants for years. Chet Laabs, who pumped the two home runs into the left field bleachers, and Sigmund Jakucki, who pitched superbly in yesterday's pennant-winning game, were beneficiaries of most of the back-pounding by the players.

Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager, came in after allowing a few minutes for the celebration to level off. He quickly gripped Sewell's hand, said "Good luck in the series," and departed.

"We're in good shape for the series," was all that Sewell would say in answer to queries about whether the neck-and-neck final drive had taken anything out of the players.

"We've been down but never out," Sewell said. "We've been in there fighting all the time. We didn't come up off the floor; we've never been on the floor." "If this has proved anything at all, it is that baseball is the most reputable and honest sport in the world."

DETROIT PLAYERS GLUM

DETROIT (AP)—It was a sad band of Detroit "Tigers" that gathered at Briggs Stadium today to determine the split of their second-place world series share, only a fraction of the contender's purse they lost yesterday in the hottest pennant finish the American League has ever seen.

The Bengals were booed out of a league lead they had held continuously since Sept. 17.

By splitting their last four-game series with a Washington club they had beaten 15 times this season in 18 starts, the Tigers missed their seventh flag by a single game.

To make it worse for the Tigers, they lost yesterday's supercrucial verdict to old-times Emil (Dutch) Leonard, who had lost eight straight games to Detroit and hadn't beaten the Bengals since 1941.

Manager Steve O'Neill had nothing but praise for the Detroit players who climbed from the second division as late as Aug. 1 to make their stretch fight.

"Everybody hustled all the way, and it's all I could ask," O'Neill said. "Every man on the club helped us make a race out of it."

First game: R. H. E. San Francisco 4 7 0 Los Angeles 5 16 1 Batteries: Joyce and Sprinz, Comellas (3), Phipps (7), Prim (9) and Fernandes, Sarni, Grigg, Second.

World Series Against Cards Opens Wednesday

The third wartime baseball season in the major leagues ended yesterday with St. Louis Browns winning their first pennant in the tightest race in American League history, a race not decided until the last out on the last day.

A 5 to 2 victory over New York Yankees, coupled with a Detroit defeat by Washington 4 to 1, gave the flag to the Browns by one game, breaking a tie that had existed since Friday.

With all credit to the Tigers for their amazing climb from seventh place July 13, most fans were pulling for the Browns, not only because the Sewellmen had never won a pennant, but also because of their thrilling comeback after they had apparently dropped out of the running. Just three weeks ago, they had skidded to third place after having led nearly all season.

With Sigmund (Jack) Jakucki hurling a six-hitter before 36,815 fans, the largest St. Louis crowd of the season, the Browns swept a four-game series from the Yankees, to climax a great stretch drive in which they won 11 out of 12.

Although long distance slugger won the final game for the former world champions—two homers by Chet Laabs and the other by Vern Stephens accounted for all the Browns' runs—pitching was the Browns' chief weapon all season. Nelson Potter, Jack Kramer, Denny Galehouse, Bob Mauer and Jakucki hurled 10 complete games of the last 12, including four shutouts, and did not give up more than four runs in any of the last 11 games.

POTTER TOPS

Potter, winner of his last six straight, won 19 games, more than any other Browne hurler since Bobo Newsom's 20 victories in 1938. Most of the batting punch was produced by Stephens, who drove in 105 runs and hit 20 homers.

Emil (Dutch) Leonard, 34-year-old knuckleballer, who had not beaten the Tigers since Sept. 15, 1941, losing seven straight to the Bengals since, was the Tiger tamer, hurling a four-hitter before a dazed crowd of 45,565 fans. Stan Spence, whose hitting beat Detroit Friday to create a first-place tie, cracked his third homer in three days to put the crusher on the Bengals.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who teamed with Hal Newhouse to set a new lively-ball era record with 56 victories, made his second attempt in three days for his 28th victory, but suffered his 14th defeat instead.

Thus the Browns, who had finished as high as second only twice before—in 1902, their first season, and in 1922, when they missed the pennant by one game—won the right to meet St. Louis' National League representative, the Cardinals, in the world series opening Wednesday.

The Cards made a runaway of it, winning their eighth flag and their third in succession by a 14½-game margin to become the first club in National League history.

Baltimore: 7 4 1 Batteries: J. Page and Drescher; Palica, Progalny (9) and Lollar.

Victorian Clung to Raft With Leg Broken For Five Hours, Taken Prisoner, Now Free

A UNITED KINGDOM PORT—CPO. Stoker William D. Mitchell, R.C.N.R., of Victoria, B.C., is resting in a hospital in the lovely shire of Somerset, in England. Mitchell was in H.M. C.S. Athabaskan when this Tribal destroyer was sunk off the coast of France. With his right leg broken and his left leg injured, he managed to get into the water when Athabaskan sunk. He was picked up by the Germans, sent to hospital in Brest and from there to Orleans, near Paris. He was finally rescued by the Americans and was flown back in England. (Mitchell's mother, Mrs. H. Mitchell, lives at 1082 Richmond Road, and his wife lives in Vancouver.)

Mitchell recalls vividly the night on which Athabaskan was sunk. The destroyer, accompanied by her sister ship H.M. C.S. Haida, was embroiled with German naval forces off the coast of France. The action had been in progress about two hours when there was a terrific explosion in the after part of Athabaskan. The after gun went out of commission and the whole stern of the ship burst into flame.

When the explosion occurred, Mitchell was in the forward part of the ship. Looking aft, he could see 20-foot flames towering over the stern of the destroyer. He started to help to get the fire fighting apparatus into commission. Just as it was being rigged, the order came: "Stand by to abandon ship."

Mitchell raced to the No. 2 boiler room to tell the stokers to muster on the deck. There was one on there. He again raced along the starboard side of the ship to the fire-fighting apparatus. Just as he bent down to pick up the hose, a second explosion occurred.

HAIR ON FIRE

Mitchell's blast helmet was blown off and he was pounded to his knees by the force of the explosion. His hair was burning and he beat out the flames with his hands. All around him the flames raged. He became aware then of intense pain in his leg. He remembers moaning over and over: "Oh, my leg! Oh my leg!" Then he lost consciousness.

When he regained his senses, a few minutes later, he was lying flat on his back. Someone grasped him under the arms and dragged him to the starboard side of the ship. He crawled over the side and hung by his hands, ready to drop into the sea.

Suddenly the ship took a violent list to port. So far did she heel over, that Mitchell was forced to crawl down the side to get into the water. For a few seconds he sat on the bilge keel. A wave hit him across the waist. A second lapped at his chin. Then he kicked off into the water.

Fifty yards from the ship, he found a Carley float. He remembers some of the men on the float, one of them being CPO. Stephen Dunnell (1502 Gladstone Avenue, Victoria, B.C.). They helped him make fast to the raft. Then he looked back at Athabaskan.

The ship had righted herself. She was still blazing. "Then," says Mitchell, "she began to sink by the stern. Her bow went high up in the air and she sank very quickly."

IN BREST HOSPITAL

For nearly five hours, he clung to the raft. Then, as three German destroyers sped towards the raft, he lost consciousness. He came to in an ambulance, promptly passed out again and was in a hospital in Brest when he opened his eyes.

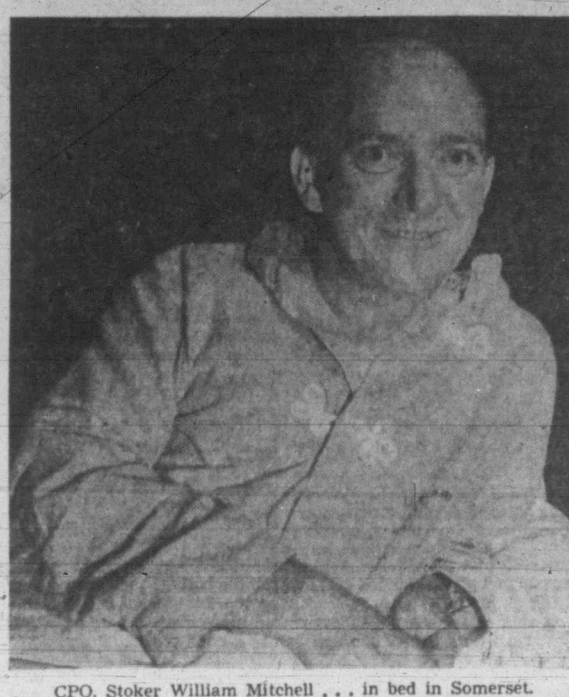

Mitchell, with other Athabaskan survivors was in Brest for 11 days. He says his treatment was "pretty fair." The Germans were using paper bandages, some of which looked and felt very soft; others were much coarser. A German surgeon tended the Canadians.

On May 11, the Canadian seamen left Brest. Two days later they were installed in a hospital in Orleans which had been a girls' school. It was staffed by French doctors who had been prisoners since France fell.

The Canadians were the first English-speaking prisoners in the hospital. They were surrounded by Arabs and Senegalese and colored troops from South Africa, who made them welcome and shared their Red Cross parcels and tobacco with them.

The French major who was in charge of the hospital took special care of the Canadians.

"He seemed to have unlimited medical supplies," says Mitchell, "and he worked hard over the whole lot of us. French peasants contributed garden vegetables and stuff for us to eat."

On June 11, some 20 of the Canadians were taken to prisoner-of-war camps in Germany.

There was great elation in the hospital on D-Day. The major had a radio and he kept the Canadian ward abreast of the news. Early in August the air force started to pound the ammunition dumps and rail installations at Orleans. Every night the planes were over. Then, one day, the Germans started moving out. The Gestapo, German officials and collaborationists left first. Then the hospital guard was cut in-half.

AMERICANS ARRIVE

On the morning of Aug. 16, a French Red Cross woman came in and announced: "The Americans are very near. They will be here this afternoon." Shortly after the Maquis entered, arrested the German guards and took them away.

$20,000 Extra Due On 1945 Assessment

On the basis of current taxation, the city's 1945 assessment will raise an additional $20,000 through an increase in the total assessed value of land and improvements and a reduction in exemptions, G. A. Okell, city-assessor-collector, announced with release of figures.

The total net assessment is $724,639 above the aggregate for 1944, while exemptions have been reduced by $141,010.

Total value of city property for 1945 taxation purposes stands at $48,472,056. Land assessment is set at $19,007,726 against this year's $18,724,667, while improvements are $29,464,330 against $29,022,750 this year.

Gross land assessment of $25,164,617 is reduced by $6,156,891 exemptions, while improvements grossing $43,397,290 are lowered by $13,793,960 exemptions.

Crabgrass in lawns may be controlled in part by regular mowing and the destruction of the clippings to prevent seeding.

That afternoon an American pilot entered the hospital, chatted with the sailors and then left to get the medical corps. The Canadians were evacuated that evening to a clearing station about five miles out of Orleans.

The following morning they were bundled into an ambulance and taken to an evacuation hospital near Le Mans. Two days later they were flown back to England.

Mitchell is well on the road to recovery. He feels much better now that he has been told that he will recover completely. He feels much better too because he knows that on the night Athabaskan was sunk a German destroyer was sent to the bottom and another was run ashore.

"That's good," says Chief Petty Officer Stoker Mitchell. "That's very good."

CANADA'S VETERANS Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the second of a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the Armed Forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

The War Service Gratuity and Reestablishment Credit—OTHER BENEFITS AT THE TIME OF DISCHARGE

When the time comes to leave the armed forces, the man or woman in uniform faces a new world. It is a world which has changed in the time they have been serving. For many there will be a choice of many roads, and they will need time in which to make their decision. They will need security also during this period.

The people of Canada, through Parliament, have said that Canada's men and women must have this security and in no country in the world have the wishes of the people been heeded so fully. Canada's veterans will have opportunity and help in making their choice of a lifetime occupation.

THE WAR SERVICE GRATUITY

Passed at the last session of Parliament, this provided monthly payments to those honorably discharged who have enlisted for service in any theatre of war and to those who saw service in the Aleutian Islands for their period of service there.

HOW MUCH IS IT?

There is a basic gratuity of $7.50 for each thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas. A supplementary gratuity of seven days' pay and allowances of rank, with Canadian subsistence or lodging and provision allowance, is paid for each six months of service overseas.

WHAT IS OVERSEAS SERVICE?

Service in Greenland, Iceland, the Aleutian Islands and any other theatre of war, is overseas service. Being in the Western Hemisphere, service in Bermuda and Newfoundland is not. Air crew, flying outside Canadian territorial waters, or stationed outside Canada or the United States, and naval personnel, serving anywhere in seagoing ships of war, are regarded as being on overseas service.

WHEN IS IT PAID?

The Act is to come into force January 1, 1945. Unless proclaimed earlier. Monthly payments, not exceeding monthly pay and allowances last received, will start after that time and will continue until full payment is made.

HOW TO GET IT

Application, for those still serving, will be made at the time of discharge. Arrangements are being made for those already in civilian life to make their applications to the service in which they last served.

DEPENDENTS MAY CLAIM IT

There is provision in the Act for dependents of those who die in service, or of those who die before payment is made or completed, to make application for the gratuity.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

In addition to the war service gratuity, a re-establishment credit is set up for ex-service people who are eligible for the gratuity. It can be applied for at any time in the ten years following discharge, and is intended especially for those who do not take advantage of training, education or of benefits under the Veterans' Land Act.

HOW MUCH IS IT?

It is an amount equal to $7.50 for every thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for every thirty days' service overseas.

HOW CAN IT BE USED?

It may be used for the purchase of a home, of furniture, of a business, of tools of trade, or for the payment of premiums under any insurance scheme established by the Government of Canada. This does not include private companies. It can be used for modernization or repair of a home.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ARE THE FRIENDS OF EX-SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN. IT IS THEIR DUTY TO ADVISE AND ASSIST ALL THEIR EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL WITH THEIR RE-ESTABLISHMENT PROBLEMS. IF THERE IS ANYTHING ABOUT THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT PROGRAMME WHICH YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND CONSULT YOUR NEAREST VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICER.

for working capital of a business or profession, and for purchase of instruments or tools for training or education. Provision is made also to authorize its use for other constructive purposes.

EFFECT OF OTHER GRANTS

If assistance is given under training and educational provisions, or under the Veterans' Land Act, the credit is reduced by the amount of this assistance. If the credit is used, training, education and benefits under the Veterans' Land Act cannot be granted until an adjustment has been made.

PAYMENTS UNDER THE RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT WILL NOT COMMENCE UNTIL THE ACT HAS BEEN PROCLAIMED. DETAILS AS TO THE MANNER OF MAKING APPLICATION WILL BE GIVEN IN THE PRESS AT THAT TIME.

OTHER DISCHARGE BENEFITS

Before leaving the service, every man and woman is interviewed by a Veterans' Welfare Officer, and the details of the re-establishment programme are explained. They get a complete medical and dental examination and are eligible for free treatment after discharge for anything which this examination shows to be necessary.

They are allowed to retain one uniform and certain other items of service clothing.

To purchase civilian clothing, they receive a clothing allowance of $100.00. This is paid to all ranks discharged since August 1, 1944.

If they have 183 days' service, and receive an honourable discharge, they are paid a rehabilitation grant of thirty days' pay of rank and one month's dependents' allowances. A railway warrant is also issued to them to take them to their home or to the place at which they enlisted. Provision is made for those whose home address has changed since the time of their enlistment.

Librarians Affiliate With Labor Group

B.C. Library Association, by a 69-15 vote has decided to affiliate with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, A.F.L., C. K. Morison, provincial librarian, said today. The mailed ballot results were counted Saturday.

"We hope to improve our own economic status and working conditions, and gain the general support of labor in all library objectives," Mr. Morison said. "We feel we can now expect more support from labor, as the white-collar partners of labor."

Miss B. M. Carruthers, librarian at McCoe High School in Vancouver, is president of the library association.

Hope to Complete Chest Campaign

Reliance is now being placed on group contributions to make up the remaining $30,000 that must be collected to put the Community Chest campaign over the top. Chest campaign officials at 1006 Government Street, said today.

Up to the present time, a check-up has revealed, only half of the firms employing more than 10 employees have turned in their contributions, holding back until after payday at the end of the month. Chest officials feel confident that there is in the remaining 50 per cent of firms a considerable reserve of contributions to come in.

They again put in a special plea for captains, canvassers and workers to finish the job as soon as possible, and for anyone who has not made his or her donation as yet to send it in to 1006 Government Street right away.

"People who know of others who have been missed by canvassers should approach them at once, for all should be given the opportunity to give," it was said.

Totals for Saturday's returns are not available today because George Kitch, chief auditor, and his seven assistants, took a well-earned holiday. They are back on the job today.

British Oust Nazis From Savignano, Cross Fiumicino

By NOLAN NORGAARD ROME (AP)—Heavy patrol actions were fought on the Adriatic front as the British 8th Army cleared the last enemy troops from Savignano and struck across the Fiumicino River where the Germans were occupying the far bank in strength. Allied headquarters said today.

Meanwhile U.S. troops of the Allied 5th Army beat back counterattacks on Monte Battaglia—lefty height dominating the road to Imola—for the fourth consecutive day, and captured neighboring Monte Cappella after heavy fighting.

The skies over most of the Italian front cleared after nearly a week of frequent rains, enabling the Mediterranean Allied Air Force to take up an active support role.

At least one enemy attempt to counterattack was broken up by a bombing attack and other German concentrations of artillery positions were assaulted from the air with effective results.

It was reported Sunday night the Germans had rushed reinforcements into the central sector of the front, from other Apennine areas, against U.S. troops slowly prying loose Field Marshal Kesselring's grip on that part of northern Italy.

On the west coast, enemy artillery fire was increased against Brindisi and other Allied units maintaining pressure on mountain strongholds.

Must Call Bids From All—McGavin Comment on B.C.E.R.

Before the city could enter into negotiations with the B.C. Electric Railway Co. for a new transportation system, as outlined in a statement by W. G. Murrin, company president, Saturday, it would have to call bids from all other transportation companies, Mayor Andrew McGavin said today.

Mr. Murrin's statement said the company would, if suitable arrangements could be made with the city, replace existing transportation facilities with trackless trolleys or gasoline buses or a combination of both. That was one feature of a $30,000,000 postwar program for the company.

"We'd have to invite bids from all transportation companies," the mayor said. "As far as the trolley bus suggestion is concerned, that would definitely be a B.C. Electric proposition. They are the only ones who could operate it. The company controls power generation here. If the city or any other outfit were to enter the trolley bus field, costs of power would be such a factor we would have to go up to 15 cents," he said.

The mayor expressed some confusion over other parts of the company's program. He was unable, he said, to comment on proposed power developments in view of the fact he understood negotiations were being carried on by the province covering acquisition of the company's holdings.

Piano Manufacturer Says Business Good

Good business ahead with introduction of new piano styles at the first opportunity, was foreseen by G. B. Heintzman, president of Heintzman and Company, Toronto, who conferred with Walter J. Fletcher, head of Fletcher Brothers Ltd., over the weekend, leaving for Nanaimo this morning.

On his annual business tour of branches of his own company and dealers handling Heintzman pianos, Mr. Heintzman was accompanied by his wife. They were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, while in the city.

Discussing general conditions, Mr. Heintzman and Mr. Fletcher, both of whom are third generation members carrying on their respective family businesses, felt that a very satisfactory business was maintained, despite lack of many goods, chiefly electrical, sold by dealers in musical instruments.

"There has been a greatly increased demand for records and record album sets and a tremendous increase in demand for sheet music," Mr. Fletcher said.

A shortage of material and labor has resulted in manufacture of only 10 per cent of the pianos required and placing of all dealers on a quota, according to Mr. Heintzman, whose family has been making pianos for 90 years in Canada. He took over presidency of the firm on the death of his father this year. Mr. Fletcher succeeded his father in the 75-year-old business in the city, when the latter died in April.

Land Receipts Up 40 Per Cent

During the first nine months of this year cash receipts of the city lands department climbed 40 per cent above those for the similar 1943 period. Ald. T. W. Hawkins, lands committee chairman, reported today.

At the end of the month receipts amounted to $159,360 against $110,282 for the equivalent period in 1943. The gain was shown despite the fact September's total was less than that for the similar month last year. The amounts were $11,610 last month against $15,232 in 1943.

During September 28 parcels were sold for $5,530, raising the number of sales for the year to date to 322, worth $115,884. In September last year, 67 properties sold for $5,820, boosting the nine months' figures to 251 and values to $66,718. Sales in September last year included 50 lots purchased at nominal sums by Wartime Housing Ltd.

Annual meeting of the Sunday School Teachers' Association Wednesday evening in St. John's Church Auditorium at 8 will be addressed by Mrs. H. L. Smith on "A Mother Looks to the Sunday School." Douglas Flintoff will show the film "The Cradle of Civilization."

The court of revision on the 1945 assessment roll met in the City Council chamber today, named Mayor Andrew McGavin, chairman; A. V. Danby, secretary, and adjourned to the call of the chair. It was the 15th year as a member of the court for Ald. J. A. Worthington, who attended with Ald. W. H. Davies and W. L. Morgan.

Alastair Fraser Here

Railway traffic is still at a very high level and is expected to continue that way while the war lasts, says Alastair Fraser, vice-president in charge of traffic, Canadian National Railways, here today from Montreal. Mr. Fraser is on a periodical western tour of inspection and, always partial to Victoria, is taking the opportunity to spend a few days holiday in the city with his wife. He is staying at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. W. G. Wilson, 771 Pemberton Road.

Winnipeg Housing Plan Before City

Winnipeg's proposals to overcome unsatisfactory housing conditions call for government subsidization of low rental homes which will return the equivalent of one-fifth of the wage-earner's salary, according to a resolution on file at the City Hall today.

Noting the Manitoba capital has 9,457 wage-earners with an annual income less than $950, it says in part:

"Be it resolved that this council (Winnipeg) request the Dominion government to amend the National Housing Act of 1944 at the next session of Parliament to provide for the following:

"That urban municipalities be empowered to set up housing authorities for the purpose of constructing low-rent housing projects, with funds to be provided by the Dominion government at a low rate of interest.

"That the housing accommodation so provided be available for rent to low-income families at one-fifth of their income, and that losses, if any, be borne by the Dominion government.

Endorsement of all cities in Canada is sought for the plan.

Lieut. V. C. Moore To Return Wednesday

First B.C. soldier to be repatriated from a prisoner-of-war camp in Germany is Lieut. Victor C. Moore, youngest son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. F. W. L. Moore, 3249 Quadra Street, who arrived on the coast Sunday. The wounded soldier was met in Vancouver by his mother, Mrs. Ruby Moore.

Wounded in the Ortona sector on the Italian front in February, Lieut. Moore was taken prisoner by the Nazis and transferred to Dresden, where he was hospitalized. He crossed the Atlantic on the exchange ship Gripsholm.

On reaching Vancouver Sunday, Lieut. Moore was removed to Shaughnessy military hospital to have a new cast placed on his leg. He is expected to be released by Wednesday when he will come home to Victoria.

Lieut. Moore says the Germans show every sign of being beaten, but they are covered by the Gestapo and show no immediate signs of surrender. The German people generally were frightened by the rapid advance of the Allied armies to their borders.

Would Enforce Law On Revolvers

Attorney-General R. L. Maltland said today the Criminal Code section dealing with revolvers in the hands of private individuals should be strictly complied with.

"In my opinion there should be strict compliance with this section regarding carrying of revolvers and vigilant prosecution of anyone not so authorized," the Attorney-General said. "Special attention should be given to the good character of the person applying for the right to carry a revolver."

Before a police officer can issue a permit to a person to have a revolver in his possession he must satisfy himself the person needs it for the protection of his life or property or in his business.

Started by chimney sparks, a roof fire at 1009 Cook, to which city firemen were called at 8.45 Sunday morning, did slight damage. Ex-Judge Recalls Mulock's Early Days

Tribute to a "grand old man" was paid today when William C. Simmons, 2560 Cotswold Road, former chief justice of the trial division of the Supreme Court of Alberta, heard of the death of Sir William Mulock in his 101st year.

Mr. Simmons was a member of one of the first classes to be graduated by Sir William at the University of Toronto in 1895. Hon. Edward Blake, then chancellor of the university, was away in London attending Parliament as a member for Longford, Ireland, Mr. Simmons recalled, and Sir William was called upon to fill in as vice-chancellor.

Last year when Sir William celebrated his 100th birthday, Mr. Simmons wrote him, congratulating him on behalf of the University of Toronto graduates in Victoria, and received a letter, from Sir William saying: "It pleases me to receive the good wishes of a man upon whom I have conferred a degree, and I reciprocate your kind sentiments." The signature is strong and legible.

Mr. Simmons came to Alberta immediately after his graduation in 1895 and was elevated to the bench five years after Sir William went to the Ontario Supreme Court bench in 1905. His career almost paralleled Sir William's in retirement also, for he retired from the bench in Alberta only one year after Sir William retired in Ontario, then at the age of 92.

Mr. Simmons recalls it was Sir William who first started Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the political field too. He told how in 1900, when the new portfolio of the Department of Labor was set up, it was added to Sir William's cabinet duties, and he chose William Lyon Mackenzie King as his deputy minister. When the department became sufficiently important to merit a separate cabinet position, he took it over and remained until the Liberals retired in 1911.

29 Extra Hours Sunshine in Sept.

Victoria enjoyed 29 hours of sunshine above normal for September with a total of 238 hours chalked up for the month, William Burton, weatherman, reported today.

Hottest day of the month fell on September 5, when the barometer rose to 89 degrees and minimum was reached on the 18th, when it dropped to 46 degrees. Minimum on grass was 42 degrees on Sept. 18. Mean temperature for the month was 60 degrees, three degrees above normal.

Precipitation for the month amounted to 1.50 inch which was normal and precipitation for the year up to Sept. 30 was 11.85 inches, which is 3.33 inches below normal.

In Police Court

Found guilty of dangerous driving Sept. 18 when his car crashed into the side of a car driven by Julian Mitchell at Quadra and Hillside, James E. Naughton was fined $30 in city court today and his driver's license was suspended for one month.

Swung around by the force of the impact, Mitchell's car struck the rear end of a northbound West Saanich bus. The bus was undamaged.

Thirteen motorists, guilty on parking and traffic counts, paid a total of $45 in fines.

Slight damage resulted in a collision at Fort and Government of cars driven by Charles F. Stables, Mount Stephen Avenue, and George C. Grant, Saturday night.

Thanks of Veterans For Welcome Club

Appreciation of the work of the Welcome Club in Victoria was expressed by A. Palmer, president of the Victoria Branch, War Amputations of Canada, in a letter to Miss Sara Spencer, president of the Superfluity Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

"I can assure you of all the support that we can give towards the continuation of the activities of the Welcome Club. It has supplied a need, which in my opinion, has earned the respect of all who have had an opportunity to come into contact with the needs of the service men and their dependents," Mr. Palmer wrote.

Victoria and District Council of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., has also written its appreciation of the Welcome Club in a letter to the Salvage Corps of B.C.

"The Red Cross Society and the Canadian Legion have a service at the C.P.R. Wharf which takes care of men arriving from Vancouver, especially seeing that disabled men are given every assistance to come ashore and reach their destination as comfortably as possible," the letter said.

"This service in no way overlaps or conflicts with the work of the Welcome Club, which has been of great service in supplying information both at the Causeway, and by means of public addresses on veterans' problems at Beacon Hill Park."

A BLESSED EVENT IN ENTERTAINMENT! HEART WARMING LOVE AND COMEDY! GLORIOUS FUN WITH CHARLES (ACADEMY AWARD WINNER) COBURN

Carole LOMBARD, James STEWART
Made for Each Other
Produced by DAVID O. SELZNICK
Directed by John Cromwell • Screen play by Jo Swerling
Released by Selznick International
Released thru United Artists

Lombard, Stewart Team in Romance

The tense and thrilling story of Jane and John Mason, an average, modern-day couple, deeply in love, but hounded by opposing economic conditions, is unfolded in the new film drama, "Made For Each Other," a David O. Selznick production, which has its premiere showing at the York Theatre today.

Costarring for the first time, and as a romantic team, Carole Lombard and James Stewart play principal roles, while prominently featured in an unusual supporting cast are the screen notables, Charles Coburn, Lucile Watson, Ruth Weston, Donald Briggs, Eddie Quillan, Harry Davenport, Esther Dale, Alma Kruger and Tully Marshall. Among the other members of the cast, which reads like a "who's who" of Hollywood's supporting players, is Julia Faye, one-time star of silent films, who played in the last silent picture ever made, "The Godless Girl," and now is making a come-back on the screen. Also present is Jack Mulhall, one of the few silent stars to continue successfully through the sound era.

"Made For Each Other," an original story by Jo Swerling, noted film author, draws its characters and plot from the wealth of material in life's everyday parade.

One of the funniest movie farces ever filmed opened today at the Atlas Theatre. It had this reviewer holding on to his seat, and if you're anything like anybody else, it'll have you in stitches. It's Paramount's newest and funniest "Road" picture—

"Road to Morocco," co-starring Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, with Anthony Quinn and Dona Drake.

As funny as "Road to Singapore" and "Road to Zanzibar," these one has them beaten. It seems as though the Paramount studio told Bing and Bob to go ahead and be themselves, and once in a while look at the scrip. The results are unariously funny and leave nothing to be desired in the way of picture entertainment.

'Crime Doctor' Stars W. Baxter
Maybe it's because they eat an apple a day and think that will keep Dr. Ordway away, but at any rate, even after listening to the Doctor solve crime after crime on radio's "Crime Doctor" program, criminals still don't seem to learn that crime doesn't pay when the good Doctor's around. There are still murderers and thugs galore trying to outsmart this ace detective (Warner Baxter) in Columbia's latest picture in this thrilling series, "Crime Doctor's Strangest Case," now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

This time, Dr. Ordway is confronted by six suspects and two murders. In spite of the machinations and interferences of Lynn Merrick, Reginald Denny, Rose Hobart, Jerome Cowan, Gloria Dickson, Virginia Brissac, Lloyd Bridges, Constance Worth and Barton MacLane, he's a strong arm of the law.

DOMINION THEATRE
Mark Twain's heart-touching tale, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," is currently at the Dominion Theatre. Tommy Kelly, Jackie Moran, May Robson, Walter Brennan and Victor Jory head the cast of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." The production is considered Mark Twain's greatest story, and the film is entirely in technicolor.

Riotous 'Morocco' Best 'Road' Film

The film stars Tallulah Bankhead with featured players William Bendix, Walter Slezak, Mary Anderson, John Hodiak, Henry Hull, Heather Angel, Hume Cronyn and Canada Lee.

"Lifeboat" was made with the co-operation of the U.S. Navy and Merchant Marine; the latter loaned the studio a 26-foot steel lifeboat which could not be bought at any price.

Another best-selling book, Richard Tregaskis' "Guadalcanal Diary," has been brought to the screen by 20th Century-Fox, the studio which seems to have almost a monopoly on popular literary properties, for it has scheduled Wendell Willkie's "One World," Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre," Betty Smith's "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and Franz Werfel's "Song of Bernadette" for forthcoming release, to mention just a few.

In addition to being a top-ranking best-seller for the past year, "Guadalcanal Diary" was also named a Book-of-the-Month Club selection, appeared in Cosmopolitan Magazine and ran in scores of newspapers throughout the country as a pictorial serialization. Three new motion picture editions are slated for publication coincidentally with the release of the motion picture.

Preston Foster, Lloyd Nolan, William Bendix, Richard Conte and Anthony Quinn head the cast of the motion picture production, which will open today at the Rio Theatre.

St. Louis Ice Team Stays at Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Hap Emms, coach of the St. Louis Flyers in the American Hockey Association, said Sunday the Flyers would complete their pre-season training here and abide by whatever ruling is made in connection with the possibility players may be put to work in grain elevators.

A. A. Heaps, Dominion grain controller, was reported to have advised the Flyers that if they remained at the head of the lakes he might have them put to work in elevators.

In appealing to the players, Friday, Heaps said he had received protests about youths playing hockey while a labor shortage for grain handling existed at the lakehead.

What's On Your Mind, Soldier?

By JAMES THRASHER

This is of one of our soldiers at the front. Take a good look at him. Take a good long look, or you may never see a better portrait of the real man who has become the vague and symbolical private soldier, the man, whose day to day business is fighting this war.

It's a hard and dirty job. You get dog tired. You sweat. Your clothes get plastered with sand or mud. It is a job full of immediate and vital matters like keeping your head down, finding a spot of shelter and getting to it and digging while the digging is good.

It is a job which is the end product of manufacturing, logistics and strategy so vast and complicated nobody can really comprehend it all. But in the end it is a personal, individual job of killing when the time is right to kill, and of getting scratched and bruised, of being scared and careful until that right time comes.

It's a job with moments of furious action, and with hours of waiting—tense waiting, weary waiting, boredom. There's quite a lot of time to think.

What's on your mind, soldier? Are you thinking about as you lie there, tired but ready, waiting to get up and go on again when the order comes? Are you thinking about the speakers who invoke you, or eulogize you or about reconversion or bureaucracy or private enterprise? Are you fretting about your union seniority? Do you wonder when and how the elections are going to go? Do you debate the pro and con wisdom of selling liquor back home on V-Day?

Or are you thinking that you wish to hell the artillery would hurry up and knock out that Hun gun that has you pinned down here? Are you thinking how much you'd give to have a wash and a night's sleep in bed? Or, suddenly, how good a chocolate malted would taste?

Are you thinking that it's about time to get on with it again? To get up, take your chance, move a few yards closer to the conquest of this position, clean out a few more of the Jerries who stand between you and the next advance and Berlin and home?

Order Expected Soon for Ships For Postwar Use

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Province in a news story Saturday said "a contract worth between three and four million dollars, and dealing with what might be termed the first postwar ship-building contract awarded to a Vancouver yard, is expected soon to be placed with North Van Ship Repairs Ltd., according to word from Ottawa."

Negotiations toward signing of this order, which deals with construction of a fleet of steel coasting vessels, have been under way for some time, and are "proceeding satisfactorily."

While not exactly an order from private foreign interests, it is one from outside Canada and can be termed the first received in this area for other than government wartime orders.

The small coasting ships may be motorships and are definitely designed for use after the war in the reconstruction work of the British Empire.

They may be placed in service throughout the world—on the China coast, Canadian coasts, on the South Sea Island runs, the coasts of India, North Africa and perhaps on British Isles runs, the North Sea and Baltic.

At Ottawa it was explained the vessels will be of small freighter type, and the contracting part is the British Ministry of War Transport.

The average cost of these vessels, it is understood, will be about $300,000 each.

Inspector Ordered To Answer in Suit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson has ordered Inspector George A. Hood, motor license branch, B.C. Police, to answer 12 of 18 questions he refused to answer on his preliminary examination in the suit of Percival R. Leighton for damages for alleged malicious prosecution.

Leighton, a barrister at Duncan, is suing Inspector Hood and Col. John A. Henry, Duncan, and both declined to answer certain queries put to them.

An application to compel the corporal to answer was dismissed by Mr. Justice Wilson.

The lawyer's damage claim arises out of a charge he made a false statement in connection with the sale of his car. It was dismissed.

Mickey Rooney Weds

BIRMINGHAM, ALTA. (AP) Mickey Rooney, the motion picture actor now a private in the U.S. army, and Miss Betty Jane Rase, the "Miss Birmingham of 1944," were married here Saturday after a whirlwind courtship of less than a week.

Miss Rase, a tall 17-year-old blonde, was introduced to Rooney, who is stationed at Camp Sibert, Ala., a week ago Sunday at a movie preview here. Rumors of the wedding had been current here for two days. Rooney is the divorced husband of actress Ava Gardner.

Ship Crash Injuries Fatal to Woman

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Jane Walters, 84, a passenger on the Ss. Lady Cecilia when the coastal passenger ship was in collision with a freighter in fog off Atkinson Point last week died at her home Saturday.

Relatives said Mrs. Walters was hit by a piece of timber during the crash but believing she had not been hurt neglected to report the incident to Union Steamship Co., owners of the Cecilia.

Low-Paid Teachers May Change Jobs

VANCOUVER (CP)—School teachers receiving less than $1,000 a year may obtain release from regulations "freezing" them to their jobs, Harry Charlesworth, general secretary of the B.C. Teachers' Federation has announced.

He said selective service had advised the Canadian Teachers' Federation instructions have been issued to local administrative boards that in any case "where it could be shown that lower salaries resulted from the (freeze) order, a permit to leave the profession might be granted."

Sea Elephant Shot Off Pine Island

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 1,200-pound sea elephant, member of the seal family, was shot by a gillnetter near Pine Island early last week. The monster of deep seas in the south Pacific and Arctic was identified by fisheries officials at Alert Bay. The huge carcass was taken to Port Hardy. This type of sea mammal is a stranger in British Columbia waters. The species was named for its long, trunk-like snout.

Elevator, Grain Burn

BELMONT, Man. (CP)—Fire of unknown cause swept through the Belmont pool elevator here Sunday, and destroyed 15,000 bushels of grain.

Nips Rehearse for Death

Preparing to be sacrificed for the Son of Heaven, these Japanese soldiers sway from suspended ropes during a physical exercise. "Even though the war situation develop unfavorably," Japan's propaganda urges them, "we must continue to fight without food and ammunition. If there are no bullets, offer our bodies." This is from the latest pictures seized from enemy sources, and used by the National Film Board in its current "World in Action" release "Fortress Japan," a dramatic documentary on Japanese home and fighting fronts today. Examining activities of Nippon's hundred million people, the film indicates how the efforts of every man, woman and child are being harnessed exclusively to the war.

French Journalists To Be Licensed
